This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

NOTE.

THIS book is designed for a class of learners too young to use the "Grammar" or "Lessons" to advantage, including those who have not yet studied English grammar. While the inevitable drill-book had better be left till they are some years older, I do not see why intelligent children of ten or twelve — as the way was, forty or fifty years ago — should not learn to know Latin and enjoy it in some of its simpler forms; which, indeed, seems to me the best possible introduction to a systematic school-course. But, to serve this end, it must be taught, first of all, as a living and flexible tongue, not in the abstract principles and method of its grammar; and, in the second place, by familiar use in actual narrative and dialogue, not by committing to memory disjointed examples and dry forms. If we consent to regard it as a dead language merely, or study it as if it had no other than an antiquarian or a scientific interest, we cannot long uphold the general study of it at all. An easy and familiar reading knowledge of a language is worth incomparably more, to most students of it, than any supposed advantage in the study of its grammatical theory. These lessons aim to give as much of the grammar as is essential for this, and no more.

The selections which follow have a vocabulary of considerable variety and range; and the learner who has mastered them all will be prepared either for the severer method of a classical course, or (if old enough) for entering directly on a line of reading in the masterpieces of classical antiquity.

DIRECTIONS TO TEACHERS.

THE words and sentences at the head of each Lesson should be thoroughly learned by the scholar, being carefully explained, when necessary, by the teacher. All the examples should be well learned by heart. REVIEW OFTEN.

The Reading Exercises that follow (from Historiæ Sacræ) are not designed to be studied as task-work by the pupil; only to afford practice in easy reading at sight. They should, therefore, be neither parsed nor analyzed, except so far as to make sure that the pupil understands properly what he is reading. If an hour a day should be given to the lessons, they will probably not be found too long; or, if they should, they may be abridged at the discretion of the teacher.

The Dialogues (selected from Corderius and Erasmus), which follow in parallel columns, should be studied beforehand, so that the pupil can recite the Latin from the English, or the English from the Latin, without the book, explaining the words or phrases by the Notes, or by the Lessons that have been previously learned.

The Reading Lessons, consisting of short fables and familiar pieces, are to be learned by the pupil by aid of the Vocabulary, which is designed to include also the words that have been explained in the Lessons.

The Tables of Inflection (taken from the "Manual Latin Grammar") may be used, at the discretion of the teacher, for practice on the declensions and conjugations, after they have been learned from the Lessons.

If a scholar has not studied English Grammar, he must learn the following Definitions:—

Definitions.

1. A NOUN is the name of any thing; as man, ship, George.

If a noun is the name of a Person, or of any thing spoken of by its own name, as if it were a person, it is a Proper Noun; if not, it is a Common Noun. In the sentence "Boston is a large city," Boston is a proper noun, and city a common noun.

If a noun means only one, it is Singular; if it means more than one, it is Plural: boy is singular; boys is plural. This is called NUMBER.

If a noun means a male person or creature, it is Masculine; if it means a female, it is Feminine; if it means a thing, it is Neuter: boy is masculine; girl is feminine; stone is neuter. This is called GENDER.

2. AN ADJECTIVE is a word used to describe a noun: if I say, "a tall man rode a white horse," the words tall and white are adjectives.

The Comparative of an adjective means more, and the Superlative, most: if I say, "he is taller than I; this is the fastest horse," the word taller is comparative, and fastest superlative.

3. A PRONOUN is a word used instead of a noun: as, he runs, instead of that boy runs.

I and we are the pronouns of the First Person; you is the pronoun of the Second Person; he, she, it, they, are pronouns of the Third Person. These are the PERSONAL PRONOUNS.

The words this, that, these, those, are called DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS; who and which are RELATIVE PRONOUNS; who, which, what, used to ask a question, are INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS.

4. A VERB is a word which tells of any thing that is done or happens. In the sentence "we ran together, and I fell," ran and fell are verbs.

The SUBJECT of a verb is the person or thing it tells of: if I say, "the horse runs," horse is the subject of runs.

The OBJECT of a verb is the person or thing that any thing is done to: if I say, "he wrote a letter," he is the subject, and letter the object of wrote.

If a verb tells that one does any thing, it is in the ACTIVE VOICE; if it tells that any thing is done, it is in the PASSIVE VOICE. If I say, "he threw a ball," threw is active; if I say, "the ball was thrown," was-thrown is passive.

1. There is no word in Latin for a or the. The word dies may mean a day, or the day; prīmō diē means on the first day. The words a, an, the, are called ARTICLES.

2. There is no word in Latin for he, she, or it. The word fēcit may mean he made, or, she made. Sometimes we may use, for he, she, it, a Demonstrative Pronoun: as, hīc, hæc, hŏc, this one; or, is, ea, id, that one.

3. The third person of a verb in the Active Voice ends in t; the third person plural in nt.

4. In these examples, pater, filius, puella, are in the Nominative Case; and patrem, filium, sororem, in the Accusative.

5. The Nominative is the Subject of the sentence, and the Accusative the Object.

6. The nominative singular of almost all masculine nouns, and many feminine nouns, ends in o, r, or s; and their accusative always ends in m. Very many feminine nouns end in a.

13. If a word has only two syllables, always give the Accent on the first syllable.

14. If a word has more than two syllables, accent the syllable before the last when it is marked long, like erā´mus; if it is marked short, like er´ĭmus, accent the one before it.

15. After the verb esse, to be, the nominative is used, not the accusative: as, pater meus est agricŏla, my father is a farmer. This is called the predicate-nominative. (See 111)

16. When est or erat comes at the beginning of a sentence, we generally say, it is, it was, there is, or there was: erant arbŏres in horto, means there-were trees in the-garden.

Lesson 5.

TENSES OF THE VERB esse, to be. II.

PERFECT, was.		PLUPERFECT, had been.		FUT. PERF., will have been.
SING.	PLUR.	SING.	PLUR.	SING.	PLUR.
fui	fŭĭmus	fŭĕram	fuerāmus	fŭĕro	fuerĭmus fuisti	fuistis	fŭĕras	fuerātis	fŭĕris	fuerĭtis
fuit	fuērunt (ēre)	fŭĕrat	fŭĕrant	fŭĕrit	fŭĕrint

18. In a Latin verb there are six Tenses, in two groups or sets: Present, Imperfect, Future; Perfect, Pluperfect, Future-Perfect. The first set are called tenses of the Present Stem; the second set, tenses of the Perfect Stem.

19. A Tense shows the Time when any thing was done or happened; whether it is Present, Past, or Future.

20. There are two past tenses in a Latin verb, the Perfect and the Imperfect: in English, the same tense serves for both. In the verb esse, to be, fui and eram both mean I was.

21. The Perfect, in Latin, is used to tell that any thing happened at a particular time; the Imperfect, to describe how any thing was at that time: so we should say, heri fuit in horto, ubi erant aliquot flores, yesterday he was in the garden, where there were a few flowers.

22. The Perfect tense (fui) is often translated have been; and the Imperfect (eram), used to be. The Perfect, fecit, is he made; the Imperfect, faciebat, he was making.

23. In the Active Voice of all verbs, and in all the tenses except the Perfect, the First Person singular ends in o or m; the Second in s, and the Third in t; in the plural, the endings are mus, tis, nt. These endings stand instead of the Pronouns, which we must use in English.

24. When the meaning is given by a change in the ending of a word, it is called INFLECTION. Latin is a language of many inflections; and English, of very few inflections.

25. In all verbs, the Perfect, Pluperfect, and Future-Perfect are inflected like fui, fueram, fuero. Thus from amo, I love; amāvi, amavĕram, amavĕro.

facio, I make; feci, fecĕram, fecĕro.
cado, I fall; cecĭdi, ceciderām, ceciderō.
fero, I bear; tuli, tulĕram, tulĕro.

The perfect ending ēre is often circumflexed: as, fuêre.

FUT. esto, thou shalt be; or, estōte, ye shall be.

INFINITIVE MOOD.

PRES. esse, to be. PERF. fuisse, to have been.
FUT. fore (or futurus esse), will or would be.
FUTURE PARTICIPLE. futurus, a, um, going to be.

MOODS.

26. The tenses given before were all in the Indicative Mood. The Indicative Mood is used to tell of any thing.

27. The Subjunctive Mood is often used after such words as if, when, though, so that, I wish, and in many other ways. It is generally translated in English by the Indicative; sometimes with the words may, might, would, or should (called Potential), and is sometimes used for the Imperative.

We use the Subjunctive Mood in English, when we say, "if it be so," "I wish he were here," "it were better not to do it;" where it is more common to say is, was, or would-be.

28. The Imperative Mood is used in giving Orders, Directions, or Laws: es (or sis) memor means, be mindful; ita esto, be-it so, or it-must-be so.

29. The Infinitive Mood is generally used after other verbs: as, volo esse cum fratre, I-wish to-be with [my] brother.

vidētur fuisse lætus, he-seems to-have-been glad.
putāvi ita fore, I-thought it-would-be so.

30. A Participle is a word that belongs to a noun, like an Adjective, but has partly the meaning of a Verb. It is sometimes used to make the tenses of a verb; as we say, he was coming, instead of he came.

For example, there is nò Future Subjunctive in Latin; but we may use the Future Participle with the Present Subjunctive sim: thus, — futurus sim	futuri simus

futurus sis	futuri sitis
futurus sit	futuri sint

This is sometimes called the Future Subjunctive.

Vocative Case.

31. In this list, the words mi fili are in the Vocative Case. When we speak to a person, his name is in the Vocative.

32. The Vocative is the same as the Nominative, except in the singular of some masculine nouns that end in us: the vocative of Carŏlus, Charles, is Carŏle; the vocative of Georgius, George, is Georgi.

33. Words which are used only as exclamations, like ecce, behold! are called Interjections.

Dative Case.

34. In this list, the words cui, mihi, tibi, sibi, matri, suæ, filio, camēlis, are in the Dative Case. The Dative is generally translated with the word to or for: it is called the case of the Indirect Object.

When we say, in English, "give me the book," me and book are both the Object of give; in Latin, book will be accusative, and me dative: as, da mihi librum, give the-book to-me.

35. Such words as to, for, in, by, are called Prepositions. This means that they are put before the noun.

36. The Dative is used as the object of many words in Latin which have a direct object in English: as, nocet mihi, it injures me. Especially, verbs which are compounded with prepositions: as,— obstitit mihi, he opposed me (stood-in-the-way to-me.)

37. The Dative singular, in Latin, generally ends in æ, i, or o: when it ends in æ it is generally feminine; in o, masculine or neuter. In the plural it ends in is or bus.

Genitive Case.

38. In this list, the words ejus, filii, matris, itinĕris, are in the Genitive Case. This is generally translated with the preposition of, or by the Possessive Case, in English; as when we say, — video matris tuæ vultum, I see your mother's face; or, the face of your mother.

The words my, your, his, her, son's, mother's, are Possessive.

39. The Genitive is used as the object of several verbs, in Latin, especially those of memory and feeling; as, — memento officii, remember [your] duty.

miserētur tui, he pities you.
pudet me pigritiæ meæ, I am ashamed of my laziness.

40. The Genitive singular, in Latin, generally ends in æ, i, or is; and in the plural it always ends in um, often in ārum, ērum, ōrum: those ending in æ, arum, erum, are mostly feminine; those in i, orum, masculine or neuter.

Ablative Case.

41. In this list, the words quo, multo, irâ, lamentis, matre, venatione, are in the Ablative Case. This is generally translated in English with the prepositions by, from, in, or with.

42. The Ablative is used after many of the Latin prepositions, as the object of several verbs, after a few adjectives (as dignus, worthy), and to tell the time when. After the Comparative degree, it generally means than.

43. The Ablative singular ends in one of the five vowels, a, e, i, o, u: most ablatives ending in a are feminine, and those ending in o, u, masculine or neuter. In the plural, it ends in is or bus, like the Dative.

It is common to mark a of the ablative with a circumflex; as, e terrâ, out-of the-earth.

44. The word venatum is called the Supine of the verb venor, I hunt. It is used only after verbs of motion; and means what one is going to do.

Lesson 11.

FIRST DECLENSION OF NOUNS.

	SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
NOMINATIVE.	puella, girl.	puellæ
GENITIVE.	puellæ	puellārum
DATIVE.	puellæ	puellis
ACCUSATIVE.	puellam	puellas
VOCATIVE.	puella	puellæ
ABLATIVE.	puellā	puellis

Decline in the same way, ala, wing (Table 1), ara, altar, stella, star, terra, earth or land.

45. There are five ways of inflecting Nouns in Latin. They are called Declensions; and are known by the ending of the genitive singular.

In the First Declension most of the nouns are Feminine, and end in a; the genitive singular, in æ.

46. There are six Cases, which have been already explained. They are generally arranged in this order: Nominative, Genitive, Dative, Accusative, Vocative, Ablative. They are used thus:—

NOM. puella saltat, the girl dances; puellæ saltant, the girls dance.

GEN. puellæ frater, the girl's brother; ludus puellarum, the girls' game.

DAT. da pomum puellæ, give an apple to the girl.

ACC. puellam or puellas vidi, I saw a girl, or girls.

VOC. da manum, parva puella, give me your hand, little girl.

ABL. mater ambulat cum filiābus suis et alterā puellā, the mother is walking with her daughters and another girl.

47. A few words, like filia, daughter, have abus in the dative and ablative plural; cum filiis suis would mean with her sons.

48. The Latin prepositions ad, to, ante, before, apud, near, circa, around, contra, against, inter, among, per, through, post, after, trans, across, with several others, are followed by the Accusative.

49. The prepositions a or ab, from, by, cum, with, e, ex, out-of, pro, for, sine, without, with several others, are followed by the Ablative.

50. The preposition in with the accusative means into; with the ablative, it means in or among.

Lesson 12.

Second Declension of Nouns.

Singular.

Nom.	puer, boy.	liber, book.	equus, horse.	donum, gift.
Gen.	puĕri	libri	equi	doni
Dat.	puĕro	libro	equo	dono
Acc.	puĕrum	librum	equum	donum
Voc.	puer	liber	eque	donum
Abl.	puero	libro	equo	dono

Plural.

Nom.	puĕri	libri	equi	dona
Gen.	puerōrum	librorum	equorum	donorum
Dat.	puĕris	libris	equis	donis
Acc.	puĕros	libros	equos	dona
Voc.	puĕri	libri	equi	dona
Abl.	puĕris	libris	equis	donis

51. Most nouns of the Second Declension, which end in er or us are Masculine (M.); those in um are Neuter (N.). The genitive singular ends in i.

The noun vir, man, is declined like puer. Most nouns ending in er are declined like liber.

52. All Latin nouns which end in um are neuter, and are declined like donum.

53. Nouns of the Second Declension ending in us are the only nouns in Latin that have a vocative different from the nominative. Almost all names of men are in this form.

Names which end in ius, like Horatius, Horace, have the vocative in i: as, Horati; also filius, son, and meus, my (31).

Lesson 13.

apud, with, at, near.	tres, tria, three.
donec, until.	diu, a long time.
atque, ac, and.	eo, thither, there.
ei, to him.	unde, whence, from where.
nec, nor, and-not.	ipse, ipsa, ipsum, self (himself, &c.).
itĕrum, a second time.	sibi, to him (self), &c.
confestim, at-once.	se, himself, &c.

54. There is no word in Latin for yes or no. Sometimes, instead of yes, we say immo, nay indeed, or etiam, even so; and for no, minĭme, least-of-all, or non, not. But generally, we answer a question by repeating the verb: as, valet-ne? is he well? valet, yes (he is well).

erat-ne tecum? was he with you? non erat, no (he was not).

55. The syllable -ne (enclitic) is added to a word, when we ask a question to be answered yes or no. It is combined with non, not, and nec, nor, in such sentences as these:

nonne te vidi heri? did not I see you yesterday?
mater tua domi est, necne? is your mother at home, or not?

56. The word ipse, self, may agree with the subject or object of the verb in any person. Thus, ipse ibi eram means I myself (or I too) was there.

ipse te nimium laudas, you (yourself) praise yourself too much.

57. The word se (or sese) himself, herself, themselves, is called a Reflective Pronoun. It means the same person as the subject of the sentence.

Thus, audivit me sibi loquentem he heard me speak to him (himself): if I had been speaking to some one else, it would be ei, or some other word. In the sentence ipse se laudat, he is praising himself, ipse is nominative, and se accusative.

There is no nominative to the reflective pronoun; the only cases are, genitive sui, dative sibi, accusative and ablative se.

58. Such words as and, if, but, though, nor, which connect words or sentences together, are called CONJUNCTIONS.

Adverbs.

59. In this list, the words procul, postea, potius, quomŏdo, are called Adverbs. They are said to qualify the verb of the sentence where they belong; that is, they show how its meaning is to be taken.

If I say, procul stabat, sed postea accessit, he stood a great way off, but afterwards he came up, procul qualifies stabat, and postea qualifies accessit.

60. Such words as nunc, now, tum, then, mox, presently, are called adverbs of Time; hic, here, ibi, there, are adverbs of Place; quomodo, how, sic or ita, so, are adverbs of Manner; cur, why, ubi, where, are Relative or Interrogative adverbs.

61. Adverbs are very often made from Adjectives by a change in the ending: as, bene, well, fortĭter, bravely, from bonus, good, fortis, brave.

The accusative or ablative neuter of some adjectives is used as an adverb without any change: as, multum, much; vero, truly, or but.

It is common to distinguish Adverbs from other words of the same spelling by a grave accent: as, multùm, verò.

62. Adverbs sometimes qualify adjectives or other adverbs. If I say, "It is very true; he did it perfectly well," the adverb very qualifies true; well qualifies did, and perfectly qualifies well.

63. The Adverb, in Latin, is generally put directly before the word which it qualifies: as, non hic erat, he was not here; statim venit, he came soon.

64. Almost all Adjectives, and all Participles, ending in us, are declined like bonus. These are called Adjectives of the First and Second Declension.

65. These six — alius, other (N. aliud), nullus, no one, solus, only, totus, whole, ullus, any, unus, one — have the genitive singular in īus, and the dative in i, in all the genders; also, alter, other, uter, either, neuter, neither.

66. An Adjective is put in the same Gender, Number, and Case as the noun it belongs to. This is called Agreement.

Verb Forms.

67. The endings of the Present, Imperfect, and Future, of the Active and Passive Voice, are these: —

	Active.		Passive.
	singular.	plural.	singular.	plural.
1st Person.	o or m	mus	r (ar, er, or)	mur
2d Person.	s (as, es, is)	tis	ris or re	mĭni
3d Person.	t (at, et, it)	nt	tur	ntur

The vowel before the ending is called the Connecting Vowel: it may be a, e, or i; but in the third person plural i is changed to u. These endings are seen in the following examples: — amat patrem, he loves his father; amātur a patre, he is loved by his father.

urbem regit, he rules the city; urbs regĭtur, the city is ruled.

fruges sumunt, they take the crops; fruges sumuntur, the crops are taken.

68. For the Perfect, Pluperfect, and Future-Perfect, Passive, the tenses of esse, to be, are used, with a Participle ending in tus or sus (64); as, amatus est, he was loved; jussi sunt, they were ordered.

amata erat, she had been loved; capti erĭmus, we shall have been taken; fixum est, it was fixed (x=cs).

69. Many verbs which are active in English have, in Latin, the form of passive verbs, and are called Deponents; as, sequĭtur, he follows; nascĭtur, it grows.

Several deponents have their object in the ablative; as, fungor officio, I perform my duty; vescĭtur carne, he feeds on flesh.

V.	honōres	hominēs	urbes	ducēs	naves

Practise the examples of the Third Declension in Table 1.

70. In the Third Declension, the genitive singular ends in is; the dative, i; accusative, em; ablative, e. These endings are added to the Stem. In the Plural, the nominative, accusative, and vocative are alike.

71. The Stem of most nouns of the Third Declension ends in a consonant; and in masculine or feminine nouns (except those in l, n, or r), the nominative is formed from it, as in urbs, by adding s.

In the word honor, the nominative is the same as the stem; in dux, the stem ends in c, which is joined to s in the nominative, making x (cs); in ætas, ætatis, it ends in t, which is dropped before s; in navis, it ends in i, which is dropped before e in some of the cases.

72. Nouns like dux, guide, and homo (which means a human being, either male or female), are said to be of Common Gender.

Lesson 18.

FOURTH AND FIFTH DECLENSIONS OF NOUNS.

SINGULAR.

	fruit, M.	needle, F.	knee, N.	house, F.	thing, F.
N.	fructus	acus	genu	domus	res
G.	fructus	acus	genu (us)	domus (i)	rei
D.	fructui	acui	genu	domui	rei
Ac.	fructum	acum	genu	domum	rem
V.	fructus	acus	genu	domus	res
Ab.	fructu	acu	genu	domo	re

PLURAL.

N.	fructus	acus	genua	domus	res
G.	fructuum	acuum	genuum	domorum	rerum
D.	fructĭbus	acŭbus	genĭbus	domĭbus	rebus
Ac.	fructus	acus	genua	domos	res
V.	fructus	acus	genua	domus	res
Ab.	fructĭbus	acŭbus	genĭbus	domĭbus	rebus

73. In these examples, fructus, acus, domus, and genu are of the Fourth Declension. Most nouns of this declension are formed from verbs; and are rarely used except in the nominative, accusative, or ablative singular. The genitive ends in us (old form uis); dative in ui (old form u).

74. In the word domus, house or home, several of the cases are like the second declension: domi (genitive singular), at home, domum, towards home; domo, from home.

The word domi is sometimes said to be in the Locative form, which means the place where. In the singular of the Second Declension, this is the same as the Genitive; in the Plural and in the other Declensions, it is generally like the Dative: as, Romæ, at Rome; Corinthi, at Corinth; Tiburi (sometimes Tibure), at Tibur; Athenis, at Athens. The Locative form is used only with the names of towns or small islands, and a very few other words, as in domi, at home, ruri, in the country.

75. Most nouns of the Fifth Declension end in ies, and all but dies are feminine: only dies and res have the plural complete. The genitive singular ends in ei.

Decline, in this list, the nouns of the Third Declension.

Decline the adjective omnis like facĭlis (Table 3); and superstes like sospes (Table 4).

76. Many adjectives are declined like nouns of the Third Declension. Thus omnis (M. and F.), all, is declined like avis; and omne (N.), like rete (Table 1, vowel-stems); and superstes, like ætas (Table 1, consonant-stems).

77. Adjectives in Latin are very often used as nouns. Thus superstes (surviving) means a survivor; amīcus (friendly) means a friend; omnes (pl.) means all persons or everybody; omnia (N. pl.) means all things or every thing.

78. If I say, "Who is there?" this is a Direct Question; and the sentence is called an Interrogative Sentence.

If I say, "I do not know who is there," the same words are called an Indirect Question; and that part of the sentence is called an Interrogative Clause. An Indirect Question is a clause which tells what was or might be asked.

The verb of an Indirect Question in Latin is in the Subjunctive Mood.

COMPARISON.

Decline the nouns, in this list, of the Third and Fifth Declensions: also the Comparatives prior and major like altior, Table 4.

79. The Comparative of adjectives in Latin ends in ior (M., F.), and ius (N.); the Superlative ends in ĭmus (generally issĭmus). These endings are added to the Stem: as, in carus, carior, carissĭmus, dear, dearer, dearest;

lĕvis, levior, levissĭmus, light, lighter, lightest;
potens, potentior, potentissĭmus, powerful, more and most powerful.

80. Other examples of comparison are: — miser, miserior, miserrĭmus, wretched, more and most wretched; facĭlis, facilior, facillĭmus, easy, easier, easiest;

bonus, melior, optĭmus, good, better, best;
malus, pejor, pessĭmus, bad, worse, worst;
magnus, major, maxĭmus, great, greater, greatest;
parvus, minor, minĭmus, small, smaller, smallest.

In the comparatives major, greater, and pejor, worse, the letter j is considered the same as i.

81. Adverbs are compared nearly like Adjectives: as, from carus: care, dearly, carius, carissime;

miser: misere (or miserĭter), wretchedly, miserius, miserrime;
levis: leviter, lightly, levius, levissime;
bonus: bene, melius, optime, well, better, best.

82. The Comparative sometimes has the meaning of rather or too much, and the Superlative, of very: thus propior is rather near, or too near; and proximus, very near; quam proximus, as near as possible.

84. The verb esse is compounded also with the prepositions ab, ad, de, in, inter, ob, præ, pro, sub, super.

Thus the verb prodesse, to benefit, is inflected like esse, with pro (or prod) before it:

XV. Joseph declares himself.

Tunc fratres Joséphi, mærore[41] oppressi, revertuntur[69] in urbem. Adducti ad Joséphum, sese[57] abjecérunt ad pedes ejus. Quibus ílle, "Quómodo" inquit "potuistis hoc scelus admittere?"[29] Judas respondit, "Fateor; res est manifesta; nec audémus pétere véniam, aut sperare; omnes érimus servi." "Nequáquam," ait Josephus: "Sed ille apud quem inventum est póculum erit mihi servus; vos autem abíte[28] líberi ad patrem vestrum."

Deinde Judas, propiùs accédens ad Joséphum, "Te oro" inquit "ut bonâ cum veniâ me audias.[27] Pater noster úniçè díligit púerum: primò nolébat eum dimittere:[29] non pótui id ab eo impetrare, nisi postquam spopondi eum tutum ab omni perículo fore.[29] Si rediérimus ad patrem sine púero, ille mærore confectus moriétur. Te oro atque óbsecro, ut sinas púerum abire, meque pro eo addícas in servitútem: ego pœnam quâ[42] dignus est mihi sumo, et exsolvam."

Interea Josephus vix[59] se continére póterat: quare jussit omnes Ægyptios discédere. Tum flens, magnâ voce[41] dixit "Ego sum Joséphus;

ACCUSATIVE AND INFINITIVE.

85. In English we often use the Infinitive in such sentences as these: "I think it to be right;" "I know it to be so;" "he is said to be rich;" "you ordered it to be done;" where we might say, "I think that it is right," and so on. In Latin, we use the Accusative and Infinitive in this way, after any verb of Knowing, Thinking, and Telling; as, spopondi eum tutum fore, I promised that he should be safe;

dixit patrem suum advenisse, he said that his father had come;
respondērunt se esse pastōres, they replied they were shepherds;
sensit mortem sibi imminēre, he felt that death was near to him.

In these sentences, the accusative is the Subject of the infinitive. The Accusative with the Infinitive is called a Substantive Clause, and is the Object of the verb of knowing, thinking, or telling.

86. With a verb which means to hope or promise, we generally, in English, use the infinitive without a subject: thus we say, "I hoped to come;" "he promised to do this." But in Latin the accusative me, te, se, is almost always used with such verbs: as, speravi me esse venturum, I hoped to come;

promisit se id [esse] facturum, he promised to do it.

87. The Present Infinitive Active of most verbs ends in are, ere, or ire: the Perfect Infinitive ends in isse; but very often in asse, or esse, instead of avisse or evisse.

The Infinitive Passive ends in i; often in āri, ēri, or īri.

Lesson 23.

Regular Verbs.

Learn the inflection of the four Conjugations (Tables 7–11); also, study the lists of comparative endings in Table 12.

N.B. This may occupy the time of several lessons; during which the Reading Exercises previously learned should be constantly practised.

88. The Present, Imperfect, and Future tenses of regular verbs are inflected in four different ways. These are called the Four Conjugations.

89. The First and Second conjugations, and the Third and Fourth conjugations, are inflected nearly alike. But most of the tenses of the first have the vowel a before the ending; those of the second, e; those of the third, e or i; and those of the fourth, i. These are called the Characteristic or Connecting Vowels.

90. In the Subjunctive Present these vowels are changed, in the first conjugation to e, and in the others to a: in the Imperfect, the verb-ending (67) is added to the Present Infinitive (87) in all verbs, regular or irregular.

91. The Perfect Tense and the Perfect Participle Passive are generally formed from the Present, thus:

	PRESENT.	INFINITIVE.	PERFECT.	PERF.-PART.
1st Conjugation.	o	āre	āvi	ātus
2d ,,	eo	ēre	ēvi or ui	ētus or ĭtus
3d ,,	o	ĕre	si (xi)	tus (sus)
4th ,,	io	īre	īvi	ītus

Note. — Those formed differently are given in Tables 13, 14. The perfect, &c., are often contracted; as, amârat for amaverat.

92. Most Latin verbs have four Participles, called the Present and Future Active; the Perfect Passive; and the Gerundive, sometimes called the Future Passive Participle.

93. The Present Participle ends in ans or ens, and has the same meaning as the English participle in ing: as, amans, loving; regens, ruling.

94. The Future Participle ends in ūrus. It generally means what is likely to happen, or what one expects or intends to do; as, venit auditurus, he came to hear.

95. The Perfect Participle ends in tus or sus (xus). It is inflected like bonus, and often has the meaning of an adjective: as, amātus, beloved; acceptus, acceptable.

96. The Gerundive (or Future Passive Participle) ends in dus. It has the meaning of what should be done: as, amandus, lovely or that ought to be loved; and it is followed by the Dative, as in the sentence fides servanda est nobis, we must keep our word (faith is to be kept by us).

The Gerundive is often translated as if it were an active participle, governing the word it agrees with: as, ad hauriendam aquam, for drawing water; (Lesson 8); consilium ejus occidendi, the design of killing him (Lesson 14).

97. The Gerund has the same meaning, but governs the object-word, while the Gerundive agrees with it: thus the last examples might be, ad hauriendum aquam; consilium eum occidendi.

98. The Supine ending in um is used after verbs of motion to tell what one is going to do; as, venit audītum, he came to hear (44). The supine ending in u is used after adjectives; as, terribile audītu, dreadful to hear.

Lesson 24.

Irregular Verbs.

Learn the Irregular Conjugations given in Tables 15, 16.

99. In several verbs, the Present tense, with some of the parts formed from it, is not inflected like either of the regular conjugations. These are called Irregular Verbs.

100. The tenses of the Perfect Stem (18) are always inflected regularly, as given in Lesson 5. But in many verbs (as fero), they are not formed, as in the regular conjugations, from the Present (see Tables 13, 14).

Lesson 25.

Personal Pronouns.

Decline the Pronouns ego, nos, tu, vos (Table 5).
Decline the Possessives meus, tuus, noster, vester.
Learn the Numerals from ten to one hundred.

101. The Possessive adjectives, meus, tuus, noster, vester, are used like the Genitive of the Personal Pronouns, and may agree with a genitive in any case: as, nostra omnium patria, the country of us all.

102. Nouns or adjectives ending in ŏlus, ŭlus, or llus, mean that a thing is little or tender. They are called Diminutives: as, parvŭlus (from parvus), little; puerŭlus (from puer), little boy; puer misellus (from miser), poor little boy.

103. The verb esse, to be, with the dative of persons, is very often used instead of have: est mihi liber (there is a book to me) means I have a book.

104. A second dative is often used after esse (or verbs of giving, sending, &c.), to show of what use a thing is to some one: est mihi præsidio means it is a defence to me. This use is sometimes called the Double Dative.

Observe that these Demonstratives are used as Adjectives; and that none of them can have a Vocative, except ipse.

105. Many adjectives ending in eus, ius, anus, or inus, are formed from nouns, and have nearly the meaning of the genitive, showing to whom a thing belongs, or what it is made of; those in ensis mean of a town, or place: as, scirpeus (from scirpus), of rushes; patrius (from pater), of a father; montānus (from mons), mountaineer; bombycĭnus (from bombyx), silken; byssĭnus (from byssus), of fine cotton; Atheniensis, Athenian.

106. Verbs ending in sco (called Inceptives) are formed from nouns, adjectives, or other verbs; and mean that a thing is beginning or coming to be: thus cognovi means I know, cognosco, I find out; caleo, I am hot, calesco, I grow hot; vesper est, it is evening, vesperascit, it is growing late.

Relative Pronouns.

107. The Relative who, which, or that, refers to some word before it, which is called the Antecedent. If I say, "The book that I was reading," book is the antecedent of that.

108. Many verbs in Latin are used only in the third person singular, and are called Impersonal Verbs. Examples of these are — libet mihi ludĕre, I like (it pleases me) to play;

licet tibi ire, you may go;
pœnĭtet me culpæ, I repent (it repents me) of the fault;
miseret eum tui, he pities you.

In the first of these examples, ludere is the Subject of libet.

109. If a verb governs the dative, it must be impersonal in the Passive:

nocet tibi, he harms you (does harm to you).
nocētur tibi, you are harmed (harm is done to you).

110. A verb which does not govern an object in the active is often impersonal in the passive: as, pugnātur, there is (or they are) fighting; ventum est, they came.

NOTE. — Such verbs are called Neuter or Intransitive. A verb which governs a direct object is called Transitive.

Ablative Absolute.

111. In the sentence "Charles was sick," the word Charles is Subject, and sick Predicate (15). In Latin, the sentence would be Carŏlus æger erat; or, Carŏlus ægrotabat: in the first, the adjective æger is called the predicate, and erat the Copula (or link); in the second, the neuter verb ægrotabat is the predicate.

Whatever is told of the Subject of a sentence is called the Predicate.

112. If I wish to say "While Charles was sick," I may use a conjunction, as in English, dum Carŏlus ægrotabat, or quum Carŏlus ægrotaret. But it is more common to make the predicate a participle or adjective (sometimes a noun), and put it in the ablative, agreeing with the subject (66): thus, Carolo ægrotante, or ægro.

This is called the ABLATIVE ABSOLUTE.

113. When two nouns in a sentence, or a subject and predicate, meaning the same thing, are put in the same case, it is called Apposition. The Ablative Absolute is the apposition of subject and predicate in the ablative. It may be seen in these examples:—

apertā fiscellā, when the basket was opened.
jubente Deo, (when God commanded) at God's command.
Josepho præfecto Ægypti, when Joseph was governor of Egypt.
collecto exercitu, an army having been gathered.

In translating the last example, it is better to put the participle in the Active Voice, and say, having gathered an army.

114. In the following Exercise, the Ten Commandments are given with the Future of the Imperative. This is used especially in Laws and Wills. In examples like these, it is generally translated thou shalt; or, with ne or neve, thou shalt not.

With the Imperative ne means not, and neve, nor. With the Subjunctive, ne generally means lest, or that not.

Lesson 29.

Numerals.

115. The names of the numbers, one, two, three, &c., are called Cardinal Numbers; the adjectives which tell their Order, first, second, third, &c., are Ordinal Numbers. Their Latin names are: —

	CARDINAL.	ORDINAL.	ROMAN NUMERALS.
1.	unus, una, unum, one	primus, a, um, first	I.
2.	duo, duæ, duo, two	secundus (alter), second	II.
3.	tres, tria, three, &c.	tertius, third, &c.	III.
4.	quattuor	quartus	IV.
5.	quinque	quintus	V.
6.	sex	sextus	VI.
7.	septem	septĭmus	VII.
8.	octo	octāvus	VIII.
9.	novem	nonus	IX.
10.	decem	decĭmus	X.
11.	undĕcim	undecĭmus	XI.
12.	duodĕcim	duodecĭmus	XII.
13.	tredĕcim	tertius decĭmus	XIII.
14.	quattuordĕcim	quartus decĭmus	XIV.

60.	sexaginta	sexagesimus	LX.
70.	septuaginta	septuagesimus	LXX.
80.	octoginta	octogesimus	LXXX.
90.	nonaginta	nonagesimus	XC.
100.	centum	centesimus	C.
200.	ducenti, æ, a	ducentesimus	CC.
300.	trecenti	trecentesimus	CCC.
400.	quadringenti	quadringentesimus	CCCC.
500.	quingenti	quingentesimus	Ɔ, or D.

1000.	mille	millesimus	CIↃ, or M.
10,000.	decem millia (milia)	decies millesimus	CCIↃↃ.

116. Unus, una, unum, has the genitive unius, and dative uni (65). It is sometimes used in the plural, to agree with a noun that means one thing: as, una castra, one camp.

117. Duo, two (also ambo, both), is thus declined:

	M.	F.	N.
Nom.	duo	duæ	duo
Gen.	duōrum	duārum	duōrum
Dat.	duōbus	duābus	duōbus
Acc.	duos (duo)	duas	duo
Abl.	duōbus	duābus	duōbus

118. Tres, tria, three, is declined like the plural of facĭlis (Table 3).

119. The other Cardinal Numbers, up to 100, are not declined. The hundreds, up to 1000, are declined like the plural of bonus (Table 3).

120. Mille, a thousand, is not declined; millia (milia), thousands, is declined like the plural of rete (Table 1).

Thus we say, cum mille hominibus, with a thousand men; but, cum duobus millibus hominum, or, cum bis mille hominibus, with two thousand men.

121. The following are called Distributive Numerals, and are inflected like the plural of bonus:

1. singuli, single, or one by one
2. bini, in pairs, or two-and-two
3. terni or trini, by threes
4. quaterni
5. quini
6. seni
7. septēni
8. octōni
9. novēni
10. deni, &c.

122. The following are called Numeral Adverbs:

semel, once bis, twice
ter, three times quater, four times quinquies, five times sexies, six times.

All the remainder end in ies (or iens).

Lesson 30.

123. A word is said to Agree with another, when it is in the same gender, number, case, or person; it is said to Govern another, when it requires it to be in a particular Case.

124. That part of Grammar which teaches the Agreement and Government of Words, and their Arrangement in a sentence, is called SYNTAX.

125. Latin Syntax must be learned from a larger Grammar; but the following Rules will be convenient to help in remembering the more common uses of the language.

RULES OF SYNTAX.

1. NOUNS meaning the same thing agree in Case (APPOSITION).

2. ADJECTIVES agree with Nouns in Gender, Number, and Case.

3. RELATIVES agree with their Antecedents in Gender, Number, and Person.

4. A VERB agrees with its Subject in Number and Person.

5. One Noun governs another in the GENITIVE.

6. Words meaning a Part are followed by the Genitive of the word denoting the Whole.

7. Certain Genitives of Quantity, as magni, pluris, and the like, are used to express indefinite Value.

8. Some words of Memory and Feeling, Fullness and Want, govern the Genitive (39).

9. Verbs of Accusing and the like take the Genitive of the Charge or Penalty.

10. The DATIVE is generally used for the Indirect Object, or for the Person whose interest is concerned.

11. Verbs signifying to favor, help, command, obey, serve, resist, threaten, be angry, pardon, envy, and trust, govern the Dative.

12. The verb esse, to be, with its compounds (except posse and abesse), governs the Dative (103).

13. Verbs compounded with ad, ante, con, in, inter, ob, post, præ, pro, re, sub, super, govern the Dative.

14. Verbs of Comparing, Giving, Declaring, and Taking away, govern the Accusative and Dative.

15. The Dative is used to denote Purpose or End, often with another dative of the Person or Thing affected.

16. The ACCUSATIVE is the case of the Direct Object of a Transitive Verb.

17. The Subject of the Infinitive Mood is in the Accusative.

18. Length of Time and extent of Space are put in the Accusative.

19. Verbs of Asking and Teaching govern two Accusatives.

20. The ABLATIVE is used of Cause, Manner, Means, Instrument, and Price.

21. The Voluntary Agent after a Passive Verb is in the Ablative with a or ab; after the Gerundive, in the Dative.

22. Words signifying Separation, and Plenty or Want, govern the Ablative.

23. Participles denoting Birth or Origin govern the Ablative.

24. The Adjectives dignus, indignus, contentus, and fretus, govern the Ablative.

25. The Deponents utor, fruor, fungor, potior, vescor, and dignor govern the Ablative.

26. The Comparative Degree is followed by the Ablative (than)

27. Degree of Difference or Distance is put in the Ablative.

28. Time when but in the Ablative.

29. The Subject and Predicate of a subordinate clause are often put in agreement in the Ablative (ABLATIVE ABSOLUTE, 112).

30. The name of the Place where is put in what is called the Locative Case: this is generally in form like the Genitive or Dative (see 74).

31. The name of the Place whither is in the Accusative; of the Place whence in the Ablative. But with names of Countries, Prepositions are always used to express where, whither, or whence.

32. One Verb governs another in the INFINITIVE.

33. The Infinitive is often used for the tenses of the Indicative in narration (HISTORICAL INFINITIVE).

34. Conjunctions which simply connect sentences, or parts of sentences, are followed by the same Case or Mood as that which goes before.

35. Conjunctions — also Relatives — implying Purpose or Result, require the Subjunctive Mood. Thus, 36. Ut (that), ne, quo, quin, quominus; also quasi, velutsi, utinam, licet, quum (since or though), dum (until), and dummŏdo, — also Indirect Questions — take the Subjunctive.

For the government of Prepositions, see 48, 49, 50.

Lesson 31.

DERIVATIVES AND COMPOUNDS.

126. In using the Dictionary, it will be a great help to learn carefully the meaning of the following forms:

Feminines in a are formed from masculines in us or er: as, servus, serva, slave; magister, magistra, master, mistress;

Diminutives in ŏlus, ŭlus, or ellus (a, um), from nouns or adjectives, signifying little or tender (102);

Nouns ending in tor (M.), or trix (F.), from the Supine of verbs signifying the one who does a thing: as, from colo (cultum), cultivate, cultor, cultrix;

Adjectives in eus, inus, ilis, anus, ensis, from nouns signifying possession, material, or residence (105);

Verbal adjectives in bundus, having nearly the meaning of the present participle: as, cŏgitabundus, reflecting;

Adverbs in e or iter, formed from Adjectives, and regularly compared (61, 81). For other Derivative forms, see Gr., § 44.

127. Very many Compounds are formed by prefixing a Preposition to a Verb or Adjective. The prepositions most commonly used, with their meaning in the compound, are:

a or ab, away;	inter, into or to pieces;
ad, to or towards;	ne, nec, not;
ante, before;	ob, towards, in the way of;
circum, around;	per or præ, very;
con, together;	re (red), back or again;
de, down, utterly,	se, apart;
di or dis, apart;	sub, under or slightly;
e, ex, out;	super, on, in place of;

in, in, on, or against (with adjectives, not).

128. A verb is Conjugated, by giving its four Principal Parts: these are, the Indicative Present, the Infinitive, the Perfect, and the Supine: as, amo, amāre, amavi, amatum, to love (1st Conjugation); cado, cadĕre, cecĭdi, casum, to fall (3d Conjugation).

From these parts all the others may be formed; except, in irregular verbs, some of those formed from the Present (99).

DIALOGUES.

C. Quî scies diem?
C. How will you know the day?

J. Ipse ad me scripsit.
J. He wrote me himself.

C. Adventus ejus, ut spero, te ditabit.
C. His coming, I hope, will make you rich.

J. Crœso [R. 26] ditior ero, si bene nummatus vénerit.
J. I shall be richer than Crœsus, if he comes with plenty of money.

C. Tunc reddes mihi [R. 14] mutuum?
C. Will you return me the loan then?

J. Ne dúbites, quin si amplius tibi opus erit, non modò mutuum reddam, [R. 26] sed etiam referam gratiam.
J. Do not doubt, but if you need more I will not only repay the loan, but return the favor.

C. Quómodo?
C. How?

J. Vicissim pecuniam mutuam dabo.
J. I will lend you money in turn.

C. Nihil opus erit, ut spero.
C. I hope there will be no need.

J. At nescis quid accídere possit.[78]
J. But you don't know what may happen.

C. Ago tibi gratias: saluta patrem, meo nomine, ubi redíerit.
C. I thank you: when your father comes give him my respects.[2]

J. Ita fáciam: vale.
J. I will: good-bye.

C. Tu quoque vale.
C. Good-bye to you.

3. A Sick Mother.

Magister. Quid sibi vult, quod hac totâ hebdómade [R. 23] abfúeris.
Master. What does it mean,[3] that you have been away all this week?

Discipulus. Oportuit [106] me domi [74] manére.
Scholar. I had to stay at home.

M. Quamobrem?
M. What for?

[1] At the eighth day from here. [2] Salute in my name. [3] Wish for itself.

D. Ut adessem matri,[R. 12] quæ ægrotabat.

S. To be with my mother, who was sick.

M. Quid officii[R. 6] ei præstabas?

M. What service did you do for her?

D. Sæpiùs[88] ei legébam.

S. I would often read to her.

M. Quid legebas?

M. What did you read?

D. Aliquid ex litteris sacris, aliis-que bonis libris.

S. Something from the Bible and other good books.

M. Sanctum et laudábile ministerium istud erat: sed quid, nihil aliud agebas?

M. A right and praiseworthy service: but what, did you do nothing else?

D. Quoties erat opus, ministrabam ei[R. 13] cum ancillâ.

S. As often as there was need, I waited on her, with the maid.

M. Sunt-ne hæc vera?

M. Is this true?

D. Ecce[88] testimonium.

S. Here is a certificate.

M. Quis scripsit?

M. Who wrote it?

D. Fámulus noster, nomine matris.

S. Our man-servant, in mother's name.

M. Agnosco manum ejus, quia sæpe mihi litteras ab illo attulisti.

M. I know his hand: as you have often brought me notes from him.

D. Licet-ne[106] igitur in sedem redire?

S. May I go back to my seat, then?

M. Quidni licet, quum mihi[86] satisféceris?[R. 86]

M. Why not, since I am satisfied?

4. A Morning Walk.

M. Heus,[88] puer!

M. Halloo boy!

D. Hem præceptor, quid vis?

S. Ah, teacher! what do you want?

M. Pone libros: totum diem[R. 16] satis studuisti: para te ut eamus ambulatum.[96]

M. Put by your books: you have studied hard all day: get ready for a walk.

D. Nonne præstaret post cenam?

S. Wouldn't it be better after supper?

M. Exercitatio córporis salubrior est ante cibum.

M. Active[1] exercise is wholesomer before eating.

[1] Of the body.

D. Sed quò prodíbimus?
M. Extra urbem.
D. Mutabo-ne cálceos?
M. Muta, ne conspergas [R. 86] istos novos púlvere: sume umbellam, ne ardor solis faciem tibi [R. 10] obfuscet.

D. Adsum,[84] jam paratus.
M. Nunc sanè prodeamus.
D. Vocabo-ne unum aut alterum cómitem ex vicinià?
M. Rectè ádmones: sic enim deambulatio jucundior erit; nam sermónes inter vos per viam conferétis, et alícubi sub umbrâ colludetis.
D. Quid si nullos cómites invénero?
M. Nihilóminus séquere[88] me: audîsti-ne?
D. Audivi,[54] præceptor.

S. But where shall we go?
M. Out of town.
S. Shall I change my shoes?
M. Yes, so as not to soil your new ones with dirt: and take an umbrella, so that the glare of the sun may not tan your face.
S. I am on hand, all ready.
M. Now, then, let us go.
S. Shall I call a companion or two from the neighborhood?
M. A good idea[1]: for so the walk will be pleasanter; for you can have a talk on the way, and play together here and there in the shade.
S. What if I find no playfellows?
M. Follow me all the same: do you hear?
S. Yes, sir.

5. Luncheon.

Guilielmus. Quid mater tibi dedit in merendam?
Jacobus. Vide.
G. Est caro: sed quænam?
J. Búbula.
G. Utrùm est recens, an salíta?
J. Est búbula salíta.
G. Utrùm est pinguis, an macra?
J. Eho[83] inepte! nonne vides esse[85] macram?

William. What did your mother give you for lunch?
James. See.
W. It is meat: but what sort?
J. Beef.
W. Is it fresh, or salt?
J. It is salt beef.
W. Is it fat, or lean?
J. You stupid! don't you see it is lean?

[1] You advise rightly.

G. Annon malis esse vitulínam, aut vervecínam?

J. Utraque bona est, sed præ céteris hædina mihi placet, præsertim assa.

G. Hem delicátule![102] habes-ne tam doctum palátum?

J. Dico ut sentio: non enim est mentiendum.[97]

G. At ego contrà suillam amo, módico sale adspersam, et bene coctam.

J. Quot paúperes in hac urbe putas esse,[86] qui pane hordeáceo solo víctitant, nec tamen ad saturitatem!

G. Non dúbito esse[86] multos, præsertim tantâ caritate[112] annonæ.

J. Itaque quantas gratias Deo ágere debemus, in tantâ copiâ bonarum rerum!

W. Hadn't you rather it would be veal, or mutton?

J. Either is good; but I like kid's meat best, especially roasted.

W. Oh you dainty fellow! have you such a choice palate?

J. I say as I think: for we must not lie.

W. But for my part, I like pork, sprinkled with a little salt, and well done.

J. How many poor people do you think there are in town, who live on nothing but barley-bread, and not enough of that?[1]

W. No doubt there are many, especially now that provisions are so dear.

J. What thanks, then, we ought to pay God, in such plenty of good things!

6. A Mote in the Eye.

Edvardus. Obsecro te da mihi óperam paulisper.

Georgius. Quid est illud?

E. Nescio quid íncidit in oculum meum, quod me valde malè habet.

G. In utrum óculum íncidit?

E. In dextrum.

G. Vis inspíciam?

E. Inspice, obsecro te.

G. Aperi quantum potes, et tene immótum.

Edward. Pray, help me a little while.

George. What is that?

E. Something[2] has fallen into my eye, which hurts me very badly.[3]

G. Which eye did it fall into?

E. Into the right.

G. Do you wish me to look at it?

E. Do, I beg you.

G. Open it as wide as you can, and hold still.

[1] Nor yet to fulness. [2] I know not what. [3] Has me very ill.

E. Non possum a nictu continére.

G. Mane, égomet sinistrâ manu[R. 20] tenébo.

E. Ecquid vides?

G. Video àliquid minútum.

E. Exime, quæso, si potes.

G. Exémi.

E. O bene factum! quid est?

G. Cerne tu ipse.

E. Est mica púlveris.

G. Est quidem adeò exigua, ut vix cerni possit.[R. 86]

E. Vide quantum dolóris tam exigua res áfferat![78] Nonne óculus rubet?

G. Aliquántulum,[103] quòd fricuisti.

E. Credin' mihi adhuc dolére?[108]

G. Quidni credam, qui talem molestiam tóties sum expertus?

E. Quid præmii médico dabo pro labore?

G. Quantum pacti-sumus.[89]

E. Nihil ergo: sed tamen maximas tibi gratias habeo.

E. I can't keep from winking.

G. Stop, I will hold it with my left hand.

E. Do you see any thing?

G. I see some little thing.

E. Pray take it out if you can.

G. I have got it out.

E. Good! what is it?

G. Look yourself.

E. It is a speck of dust.

G. In fact it is so small it can hardly be seen.

E. See how much pain such a little thing gives. Isn't my eye red?

G. A little, because you rubbed it.

E. Do you think it pains me now?

G. Why not? since I have felt the same trouble so often?

E. What fee shall I pay the doctor for his trouble?

G. What we agreed on.

E. Nothing, then: but I thank you with all my heart.

II. — ERASMUS.

1. A Morning Call and Walk.

Carolus. Heus, heus, puer![82] nemon' huc prodit?

Henricus. Hic, opínor, effringet fores. Familiarem oportet[106]

Charles. Halloo boy! will nobody show his head?[1]

Henry. I think that fellow will break down the door. He esse. O lepidum caput! Quid affers,[90] mi Carole?

C. Meipsum.

H. Næ tu rem haud magni pretii huc attulisti.

C. Atqui magno[R. 20] cónstiti patri meo.

H. Credo, pluris[R. 7] quàm revendi possis.

C. Céterùm, Jacóbus estne domi?

H. Incertus sum: sed visam.

C. Quin potius abi, et roga ipsum an velit nunc esse domi.

H. Abi tu potiùs, sisque tibi ipsi Mercurius.

C. Heus Jacobe, num[12] es domi?

Jacóbus. Non sum.[54]

C. Impudens: non ego audio te loquentem?

J. Immo, tu impudentior: nuper ancillæ[R. 11] tuæ crédidi te non esse[85] domi, et tu non credis mihi ipsi?

C. Æquum dicis: par pari relatum.

J. Equidem ut non omnibus dormio, ita non omnibus sum domi: tibi posthac semper ero.

C. Sed tu mihi vidéris cochleæ ágere vitam.

J. Quî sic?

C. Quia perpetuò domi látitas, nec usquam prorépis. Nec ought to be on easy terms here. My dear fellow![1] What have you got here, Charley?

C. Only myself.

H. Truly, you bring what isn't worth much.[2]

C. At any rate I cost something to my father.

H. More than you will ever sell for, I reckon.

C. Well—is James at home?

H. I don't know: I'll go see.

C. Better[3] go and ask him whether he chooses to be at home.

H. Go yourself, and be your own errand-boy.[4]

C. Halloo James! are you at home.

James. No.

C. That's cool:[5] don't I hear you say so?

J. You are cooler yet: I believed your maid-servant, when she said you were not in, and now you won't believe me!

C. Very good: a very fair hit.[6]

J. In fact, I am not asleep to everybody, and not at home to everybody: but I shall always be at home to you.

C. It seems to me you lead a snail's life.

J. How so?

C. Because you are always hiding at home, and never [4] Mercury (the messenger of Jupiter). [5] Shameless. [6] Like returned for like.

secus atque claudus sutor, jugiter domi[74] désides. Tu tibi domi situm cóntrahis.

J. Est quod agam[R. 85] domi, foris nihil est negotii. Et siquid esset,[97] tamen hoc cælum me dies áliquot a público cohibuisset.

C. At nunc sudum est, et invitat ad deambulandum.[97] Vide, ut blandítur.

J. Si prodeambulare lubet, non recúso.

C. Planè videtur hoc utendum[97] cælo.[R. 25]

J. Súperest[94] ut locum dispícias amœnum.

C. Ego verò tibi locum ostendam, ubi nec némoris[R. 6] umbram, nec pratorum smarágdinum virorem, nec fontium vivas scátebras desiderabis. Dices dignam Musis[R. 94] sedem.

J. Magnífice polliceris.

C. Nimiùm affixus es libris:[86] nimiùm ássides libris: immódico studio[R. 20] teipsum máceras.

J. Malim studio macrescere[106] quam amóre.

C. At non ideo vívimus ut studeámus; ideo studémus ut suáviter vivámus.

J. Mihi verò vel ímmori chartis[R. 18] dulce est.

crawl out any where: always stay at home, just like[1] a lame cobbler. You are getting all rusty here.

J. I have plenty to do here, and no business out-doors. And if I had, such a day as this would have kept me out of the street these many days.

C. But it is fair now, and tempts one to a walk. See how soft it is!

J. If you like to stroll about, I am willing.

C. We certainly ought to take advantage of this weather.

J. Then[2] you have to look out for a pleasant place.

C. I will show you a place where you will not lack the shade of trees, nor the emerald green of meadows, nor the fresh bubbling of springs: you will call it a seat fit for the muses.

J. You promise famously.

C. You are too tied to your books: you stick too close to books: you are getting lean with immoderate study.

J. I'd rather pine with study than love.

C. Pooh! we don't live for the sake of study: we study so as to live agreeably.

J. As for me, I should like[3] to die amongst my papers.

[1] Not otherwise than. [2] It remains that.
[3] It is sweet to me.

C. Equidem immorari probo: ímmori non probo. — Ecquid voluptati[104] fuit hæc deambulatio?

J. Me quidem vehementer oblectavit.

C. I like staying among them well enough: dying, I don't like that. — Well, how have you enjoyed the walk?

J. I was perfectly charmed[1] with it.

2. A Trial of Jumping.

Ricardus. Libetne[105] decertare saltu?

Joannes. Ludus iste non cónvenit pransis.[36]

R. Quamobrem?

J. Quia ventris suburra gravat corpus.

R. Non ádmodum sanè iis[R. 10] qui pransi sunt in pædagogio: nam hi plerumque cænaturiunt priusquàm absólverint prandium.

J. Quod ígitur saliendi[97] genus placet?

R. Auspicemur[37] ab eo quod est simplicissimum, — a saltu locustarum, sive mavis[99] ranarum, — utrâque tibiâ, sed junctis pédibus.[112] Qui longissimè promóverit cíngulum, coronam feret. Hujus ubi erit satietas, aliud atque aliud genus experiemur.

J. Equidem nullum recusabo genus, nisi quod géritur cum periculo tibiarum: nolim mihi[103] esse rem cum chirurgis.

Richard. Should you like a match at jumping?

John. That's no game for after dinner.[2]

R. Why not?

J. Because the ballast inside[3] weighs you down.

R. Not very much those that dine at the school-table: they generally want their supper before they have done dinner.

J. What sort of jumping do you like?

R. Let's begin with the easiest, — grasshoppers' jump, or frogs' jump if you like it better, — with both legs, and feet together. The one that gets his belt furthest takes the prize. When we have had enough of that, we'll try another sort, and then another.

J. I shan't object to any, unless it[4] is dangerous to my shins; I don't want any thing to do with the doctors.

[1] It greatly delighted me. [2] Those who have dined. [3] Of the stomach. [4] What is done.

R. Quid si certemus unâ tibiâ?

J. Iste ludus est Empusæ: valeat.

R. Hastæ innixum salire cum primis est elegans.

J. Liberalius est certare cursu. En, designa stadium: hoc loco sit carcer, quercus ista sit meta.

R. Sed útinam adesset Ænéas, qui propónat et præmia victori.

J. Victori [108] abundè magnum præmium est gloria.

R. Victo potius dandum [96] erat præmium, solatii gratiâ.

J. Sit ígitur victo præmium, ut lappâ coronatus redeat in urbem.

R. Equidem non recusârim, si tu præcédas tibiâ canens.

J. Est ingens æstus.

R. Nec mirum, cùm sit [R. 86] solstítium æstivum.

J. Præstíterat natare.

R. Mihi non placet ranarum vita. Animal sum terrestre, non amphibium.

J. Sed tamen hoc exercitamenti genus olim cum primis habebatur liberale.

R. Immo etiam utile.

J. Ad quid?

R. Si fugiendum [97] sit in bello, ibi potíssimùm valent qui

R. What if we try on one leg?

J. That's hop-scotch: none of that.

R. Jumping with a pole is first-rate.[1]

J. A foot-race[2] is more manly. Here, mark out the course: let the bounds be just here, and the goal yonder oak.

R. I wish Æneas was here, to give prizes to the one that beats.

J. Glory is prize enough for the conqueror.

R. The prize should rather be given to the one that's beaten, to comfort him.

J. Let him have the prize, then, of going back to town with a wreath of burrs.

R. I am willing,[3] if you will go ahead playing on a whistle.

J. It's tremendously hot.[4]

R. No wonder, as it is midsummer.[5]

J. It would have been better to swim.

R. I don't like a frog's life. I am a land animal, and not amphibious.

J. But that sort of exercise used to be reckoned particularly manly.

R. Yes, and very useful too.

J. Useful for what?

R. If you want to run away in battle, those have the best sese cursu pedum et natatu exercuérunt.

J. Artem narras haudquaquam aspernandam.[96] Neque enim minus laudis est aliquando bene fugere, quam fortiter pugnare.

R. Sum planè rudis et imperítus natandi ; nec sine perículo versamur in alieno elemento.

J. Sed assuéscere oportet.[108] Nemo náscitur ártifex.[R. 1]

R. At ego istíus géneris artífices[85] permultos audio natâsse, sed non enatâsse.

J. Experiéris primùm innixus súberi.[36]

R. Nec súberi fido magis quàm pedibus. Si vobis cordi[104] est natatio, spectator esse malo[99] quàm certator.

of it[1] who have practised running and swimming.

J. It is an art not to be despised. Sometimes there is no less glory in running well, than in fighting bravely.

R. I am quite raw and unskilful in swimming : and it is dangerous to venture in a strange element.

J. But you must get used to it. "Nobody is born a workman."

R. But a good many who have practised that way, I hear, have swum out and never swum back.

J. You will begin by trying with a cork-belt.

R. I trust a cork no more than I do my feet. If you like swimming,[2] I had rather be a looker-on than in the game.

3. The Young Sportsmen.

Paulus. "Trahit sua quemque voluptas." Mihi[86] placet venatio.

Thomas. Placet et mihi : sed ubi canes ? ubi venábula ? ubi casses ?

P. Valeant apri, ursi, cervi et vulpes ; nos insidiemur[99] cuniculis.

Richardus. At ego laqueos injiciam locustis : insidiabor gryllis.[36]

Paul. "Every one to his liking." I like hunting.

Thomas. So do I : but where are the dogs ? where are the guns ?[3] where are the traps ?

P. No matter for boars and bears, deer and foxes : let's hunt rabbits.

Richard. But I will go noose grasshoppers : I'll set traps for crickets.

[1] Prevail most of all. [2] If swimming is to your heart. [3] Hunting-spears.

Joannes. Ego ranas captabo.

Guilielmus. Ego papiliones venabor.

J. Difficile est sectari[60] volantia.

G. Difficile, sed pulchrum: nisi pulchrius[79] esse ducis sectari lúmbricos aut cochleas, quia carent alis.

J. Equidem malo insidiari piscibus: est mihi[108] hamus élegans.

G. Sed unde parabis escam?

J. Lumbricorum ubique est magna copia.

G. Est, si tibi velint prorépere e terrâ.

J. At ego mox efficiam ut multæ myríades prosiliant.

G. Quo pacto? incantamentis?

J. Videbis artem. Imple hanc sítulam aquâ. Hos juglandium summos córtices virentes confractos immítito. Hac aquâ perfunde solum. Nunc observa paulisper: vides emergentes?

G. Rem prodigiosam vídeo. Sic olim, opínor, exsiliebant armati ex satis* serpentis dentibus. Sed pleríque pisces delicatioris[79] et elegantioris sunt paláti, quàm ut escâ tam vulgari capiantur.

J. Novi quoddam insecti genus quo talibus insidiari soleo.

John. And I will catch frogs.

William. I will hunt butterflies.

J. It is hard to chase things that fly.

W. Hard, but glorious: unless you think it finer to chase worms and snails, because they have no wings.

J. I had rather catch fish: I've got a splendid hook.

W. But where will you get your bait?

J. There's plenty of worms everywhere.

W. Yes, if they will only crawl out of the ground for you.

J. But I will make thousands of them jump out in a minute.

W. How? by witchcraft?

J. You shall see the way. Fill this bucket with water. Put in these broken bits of green walnut-hulls. Drench the ground with this water. Now watch awhile: do you see them coming up?

W. I see an astonishing thing. Just so, I suppose, the armed men sprang up once from the sowing of serpents' teeth. But most fishes have too dainty and nice a palate to be taken with such vulgar bait.

J. I know a sort of fly, that I generally catch that kind with.

* Participle of sero, to sow.

G. Tu vide an possis impónere píscibus :[86] ego ranis facessam negotium.

J. Quómodo ? reti ?

G. Non, sed arcu.

J. Novum piscandi genus.

G. At non injucundum. Videbis et fatéberis.

R. Quid si nos duo micemus dígitis.

P. Ignavum est ac rústicum lusûs genus. Ad focum desidéntibus magis cónvenit, quàm in campo versántibus.

R. Quid si certemus núcibus.

P. Nuces ádmodum púeris relinquamus : nos grandiúsculi[109] sumus.

R. Et tamen nihil aliud adhuc quàm púeri sumus.

P. Sed quibus decórum est lúdere núcibus, iisdam non indecórum est equitare in arúndine longâ.

R. Tu ígitur præscríbito[114] lusûs genus : sequar quocumque vocâris.

P. Et ego futurus sum ómnium horarum homo.

W. You see if you can take in the fish : I'll do the business for the frogs.

J. How ? with a net ?

W. No — with a bow-and-arrows.

J. A new style of fishing.

W. But it's jolly, as you will own when you see it.

R. Suppose we two play odd-or-even.

P. That is a mean and lubberly sort of game — more fit for idlers by the fire than for playing out-of-doors.

R. Suppose we play marbles.

P. Let us leave that to little boys : we are rather too big.

R. And yet we are nothing else but boys.

P. But those who are suited with playing marbles, might as well ride horseback on a long stick.

R. You then direct the sort of play : I will follow, wherever you say.

P. And I will be your man for any thing.

4. A Shipwreck.

Antonius. Horrenda narras ! Est istuc navigare ? Prohíbeat Deus, ne mihi quidquam unquam tale veniat in mentem.

Bernardus. Immo quod háctenus memoravi, lusus merus est, præ his quæ nunc audies.

Antonio. A dreadful story ! Is that going to sea ? God forbid any such thing should ever come into my mind.

Bernardo. But what I have told you so far, is mere sport to what you shall hear now.

A. Plus satis malorum audivi: inhorresco te memorante,[112] quasi ipse periculo[R. 18] intersim.

B. Immo mihi jucundi sunt acti[95] labores. Eâ nocte quiddam áccidit, quod magnâ ex parte spem salutis adémit naucléro.[R. 14]

A. Quid, obsecro.

B. Nox erat sublustris: et in summo malo stabat quidam e nautis in galeâ, — sic enim vocant, opínor, — circumspectans, si quam terram vidéret: huic[86] cœpit adsístere sphæra quædam ignea: id nautis tristissimum ostentum est, si quando solitárius ignis est; felix, quum gémini. Hos vetustas crédidit Castorem et Pollucem.

A. Quid illis[108] cum nautis, — quorum alter fuit eques, alter pugil?

B. Sic visum est poetis. Nauclérus, qui clavo[86] assidebat, "Socie,"[82] inquit (nam eo nomine se mutuò compellant nautæ), "videsne quod sodalitium tibi claudat latus?" "Video," respondit ille, "et precor ut sit felix." Mox globus igneus,[105] delapsus per funes, devolvit sese usque ad nauclerum.

A. Num ille exanimatus est metu?

B. Nautæ assuevêre mon-

A. I have heard more than enough of horrors: I shudder while you speak, as if I myself were in the same danger.

B. Nay, but past dangers are pleasant to me. That night a thing happened which almost took from the captain any hope of safety.

A. What was that, pray?

B. It was a glimmering night; and at the mast-head stood one of the sailors on the round-top — I think they call it — looking round if he could see any land. Near him a ball of fire began to rest; this is a very unlucky sign for sailors, if ever it is a single flame, but lucky when there are two. These the ancients thought were Castor and Pollux.

A. What have they to do with sailors, — one of them a horseman, and one a boxer?

B. So the poets saw it. The captain, who stood by the helm calls out, "Ho, shipmate," says he (for sailors hail one another by that name), "do you see what company you have got, hiding your side?" "Yes, sir," he answered, "and I pray it may be good luck." Presently the fire-ball slid down the rigging, and rolled close up to the captain.

A. He wasn't out of breath with fear?

B. Sailors get used to strange strìs. Ibi paulisper commoratus, volvit se per márgines totíus[65] navis: inde per medios foros dilapsus evanuit. Sub meridiem cœpit magis ac magis incrudescere tempestas. Vidistine[66] unquam Alpes?

A. Vidi.[54]

B. Illi montes verrúcæ sunt, si conferantur ad undas maris. Quoties tollebamur in altum, licuisset[108] lunam dígito[R. 20] contíngere: quoties demittebamur, videbamur, dehiscente terrâ,[112] rectâ ire in Tártara.

A. O insános, qui se credunt mari![R. 11]

B. Nautis frustra luctantibus[R. 20] cum tempestate, tandem nauclerus totus pallens nos ádiit.

A. Is pallor præságit aliquod magnum malum.

B. "Amici" inquit, "desii esse dóminus[15] navis meæ: réliquum est ut spem nostram collocemus in Deo, et quisque se paret ad extrema."

A. O veré Scythicam concionem!

B. "In primis autem," inquit, "exoneranda[98] est navis; sic jubet necessitas, durum telum:[R. 1] præstat consúlere vitæ, dispendio[R. 20] rerum, quàm simul cum rebus interire." Persuasit véritas: projecta sunt in things. After staying there a while, it rolled all along the ship's bulwarks, then went down the main hatchway and disappeared. Towards noon, the storm began to rage more and more. Did you ever see the Alps?

A. Yes.

B. Those mountains are warts, if you compare them to the sea-waves. Whenever we were lifted up, we might have touched the moon with a finger: whenever we went down, it seemed as if the earth were gaping, and we were going straight to the bottomless pit.

A. Madmen, who trust themselves to the sea!

B. As the sailors were fighting in vain against the storm, at last the captain comes to us, all pale.

A. That paleness means some great mischief.

B. "Friends," said he, "I am no longer master of my ship: for the rest, we must put our hope in God, and every one make ready for the end."

A. Truly, a speech fit for a wild Indian.

B. "But first of all," said he, "we must lighten the ship; so necessity compels — a hard weapon: it is better to look out for your life at the cost of the goods, than go to the bottom with them." The truth mare plurima[88] vasa plena pretiosis mércibus.[R. 28]

A. Hoc erat verè jacturam fácere.

A. Is nolebat decídere cum mari?

B. Non: sed cupiebat aut perire cum amícis ópibus suis, aut simul cum iis servari. Itaque refragabatur.

A. Quid nauclerus?

B. "Per nos," inquit, "licéret[108] cum tuis perire solum: sed æquum non est, ut nos omnes tui scrinii causâ periclitemur: [R. 36] alíoqui te unà cum scrinio dábimus in mare præcípitem."

A. Orationem verè naúticam.

B. Sic Italus quoque jactúram fecit, multa mala precans et súperis et ínferis, quod suam vitam elemento tam bárbaro credidisset.

A. Agnosco vocem Italicam.

B. Paulo[R. 27] post venti, nihilo mitiores facti nostris muneribus, rupêre funes, disjecêre vela.

A. O calamitatem!

B. Ibi rursus nos adit nauta.

persuades: very many bales of precious wares are thrown overboard.

A. That was an overthrow, indeed!

B. There was an Italian fellow, who had been envoy with the king of Scotland: he had a chest full of silver plate, rings, cloth, and silk dresses.

A. Wasn't he willing to make terms with the sea?

B. No: he chose to be lost with his darling treasures, or else be saved with them. And so he held back.

A. What said the Captain?

B. "For all me," says he, "you might go to the bottom alone, with your goods: but it is not fair for all of us to risk our lives for that chest of yours; and so we will pitch you overboard head-first, chest and all."

A. Truly a sailor's speech.

B. So the Italian, too, lost his goods, with many imprecations to saints and devils, that he had trusted his life to so wild an element.

A. I know the Italian style.

B. Presently the winds, made none the kinder by our gifts, broke the rigging, and tore the sails to pieces.

A. What a misfortune!

B. Here a sailor comes up to us again.

A. Concionaturus ?[94]

B. Salutat: "Amici," inquit, "tempus hortatur ut unusquisque se Deo commendet, ac morti se præparet."

A. Hæc concio durior etiam erat priore.[R. 26]

B. Hæc ubi locutus est, jubet incídi funes omnes, ac malum usque ad thecam, cui insériter, incídi serrâ, ac simul cum antennis devolvi in mare.

A. Cur hoc ?

B. Quoniam, sublato aut lacero velo,[R. 29] erat oneri[104] non usui: tota spes erat in clavo.

A. Quid interea vectores ?

B. Ibi vidisses míseram rerum faciem: nautæ canentes Salve Regina! implorabant matrem Vírginem, appellantes eam Stellam maris, Dominam mundi, Portum salutis, aliisque multis títulis illi[35] blandientes. Nonnulli, procumbentes in tabulas, adorabant mare, quidquid erat olei effundentes in undas, non áliter illi blandientes, quàm[R. 34] solémus irato príncipi.

A. Quid aiebant ?

B. "O clementissimum mare! O generosissimum mare! O ditissimum mare! O formosissimum mare! mitesce, serva!" hujúsmodi multa occinebant surdo mari. . . .

A. To make a speech ?

B. He hails us: "Friends," says he, "the time warns every man to commit himself to God, and prepare for death."

A. A harder speech than that before.

B. When he had said this, he orders all the ropes to be cut, and the mast to be sawed off close to the socket it is set into, and to be hove overboard, spars and all.

A. Why was that ?

B. Because, as the sail was carried off or torn, it was a burden and no use: the only hope was in the helm.

A. How about the passengers ?

B. There you might see a sad state of things: the sailors, singing "Hail Queen!" besought the Virgin Mother, calling her Star of the sea, Mistress of the world, Port of safety, and flattering her with many other titles. Some, falling on deck, prayed to the sea, pouring upon the waves whatever oil there was, and flattering it just as we do an angry prince.

A. What did they say ?

B. "Oh most merciful sea! Oh most noble sea! Oh most wealthy sea! Oh most beauteous sea! grow calm and save us!" many things like that they shouted to the deaf sea.

Unum audivi, non sine risu, qui clarâ voce, ne non exaudiretur, pollicebatur Christóphoro, qui est Lutetiæ in summo templo — mons veriùs quàm statua — cereum tantum quantus esset ipse. Hæc cùm vociferans quantùm poterat, idéntidem inculcaret, qui fortè proximus adsistebat, illi notus, cúbito tétigit eum, ac submónuit: "Vide quid pollicearis:[78] etiam si rerum omnium tuarum auctionem facias, non fúeris solvendo."[97] Tum ille, voce jam pressiore, ne vidélicet exaudiret Christóphorus: "Tace," inquit, "fátue: an credis me ex animi sententiâ loqui? Si semel contígero terram, non daturus sum illi candélam sebaceam." . . .

Inter omnes, nullus se tranquilliùs agebat, quàm mulier quædam, cui erat infantulus[108] in sinu, quem lactabat.

I couldn't help laughing to hear one, who in a loud voice, lest he might not be heard, promised St. Christopher in the great church at Paris (more a mountain than a statue), a wax-candle as big as himself. As he kept shouting this, as loud as he could bawl, an acquaintance of his, who happened to be standing close by, nudged him with his elbow, and gave him a hint: "Look out what you promise; you couldn't pay if you should make an auction of all your goods." Then he, in a lower voice, so that Christopher might not hear him, "Hold your tongue," says he, "you fool: do you suppose I mean what I say? If I once reach land, I don't mean to give him a single tallow candle." . . .

Among all, there was none kept calmer than a woman with a baby at her breast, which she was nursing.

A. Quid illa?

B. Sola nec vociferabatur, nec flebat, nec pollicitabatur: tantùm, complexa puellum, precabatur tácitè. Intereà dum navis subinde illideretur vado, nauclerus, metuens ne tota solveretur, rudentibus eam cinxit a prorâ et a puppi.

A. What did she do?

B. She alone neither cried out, nor wept, nor made promises: only hugging the child she prayed silently. Meantime, as the ship struck bottom now and then, the captain, for fear she would all go to pieces, bound her, stem and stern, with ropes.

A. O miserum præsidium!

B. Interim exóritur quidam sacrificus senex, annos[B. 18] natus

A. A wretched shift!

B. Presently an old priest gets up, a man of sixty, named sexaginta; nomen erat Adámus: is abjectis vestibus [R. 29] usque ad indusium, abjectis etiam ocreis et calceis, jussit ut omnes pararemus nos ad natandum.[97] Dum hæc aguntur, redit ad nos nauta lacrimabundus. "Paret," inquit, "se quisque; nam navis non erit nobis usui[106] ad quartam horæ partem." Jam enim, locis áliquot convulsa, hauriebat mare. Paulo post, nauta renuntiat nobis, se vidére[85] procul turrim sacram, adhortans ut divi,[R. 5] quisquis esset ejus templi præses, auxilium implóremus. Procumbunt omnes, et orant ignotum divum.

A. Si nómine compellâssetis eum, fortassis audîsset.

B. Erat ignotum. Interim nauclerus, quantum potest, eò navim dírigit — jam laceram, jam úndique combibentem undas; ac planè dilapsuram,[94] ni rudentibus fuisset succincta.

A. Dura rerum conditio!

B. . . Jam mare totam navim occupârat, ut nihilo [R. 27] tutiores essemus futuri[94] in navi quàm in mari.

A. Hîc ad sacram áncoram confugiendum erat.[97]

B. Immo ad miseram. Nautæ scapham exónerant aquâ,[R. 22] ac dimittunt in mare. In hanc

Adam: he strips to the shirt, throws off his shoes and leather hose, and bids us all get ready to swim. Meantime, the sailor comes back to us, all in tears. "Every one get ready," says he; "the ship will not serve us a quarter of an hour more." For already it was leaking in several places, and taking in the water. A little after, the sailor calls out that he sees a church-spire at a distance, and tells us to pray for the help of the saint, whoever it was, the guardian of that church. All fall down, and pray to the unknown saint.

A. If you had called him by his name, perhaps he would have heard.

B. We did not know it. Meantime the captain steers the ship as well as he can towards it — already breaking up and leaking every where: and it would have gone quite to pieces, unless it had been undergirt with ropes.

A. A hard state of things!

B. . . Now the sea had filled the whole ship, so that we were likely to be no safer aboard than overboard.

A. Here you must take to your sheet-anchor.

B. A poor one at that. The sailors bale out the long-boat and let her down into the water. Every body tries to force himself aboard of her: the sailors calling out in great confusion that the boat can never hold such a crowd; every one must catch hold of what he can, and swim. The affair suffers no long debate: one man snatches an oar, one a pole, one a pump, one a bucket, one a plank; every man helps himself, and so they plunge into the waves.

A. Meantime, what happened to that poor woman — the only one that did not cry?

B. She was the very first that got to land.

A. How could she?

B. We had put her on a wide plank, and fastened her on so that she could not well fall off: we put a board in her hand, to use for an oar: and with our blessing launched her into the waves, pushing her off with a pole to keep clear of the ship, where the danger was: and so, holding the child in her left hand, she rowed with her right.

A. O the heroine! and did the long-boat get through safe?

B. They were lost first of all. Why, thirty men had crowded aboard of her.

A. By what unlucky chance did that happen?

B. Before she could get clear of the great ship, she was swamped by the swaying of it.

A. O factum malè! Quid tum?

B. Ubi jam aliquámdiu sic natantes nónnihil promovissemus, sacrificus, quoniam erat miræ proceritatis, "Bono" inquit "es[88] animo! sentio vadum." "Est" inquam "fortassis e scriniis aliquod, quod huc devolvit mare." "Immo," inquit, "scalptu digitorum planè sentio terram." Cùm adhuc aliquamdiu natâssemus, ac rursus sentiret vadum, "Tu fac"[99] inquit "quod tibi videtur factu[98] optimum; ego tibi cedo malum totum, et vado me credo:" simulque, exspectato flúctuum decessu,[112] pedibus secutus est quanto potuit cursu. A. Oh, cruel misfortune! But what next?

B. When by dint of swimming we had made some headway, the priest — for he was marvellous tall — calls out, "Courage! I touch bottom!" I did not venture to hope any such good luck, and said, "We are too far from shore to expect to find bottom." "But in fact," said he, "I feel the ground with my feet." "Perhaps," said I, "it is one of the chests, that the sea has washed this way." "Nay," says he, "I plainly feel the ground by the scraping of my toes." We had swum a little further, and again he touched bottom: then "You do," says he, "what you think best: I give you all the mast, and trust the bottom:" at the same time he waited for the ebb, and ran afoot as far as he could. As the waves came up again, he hugged both his knees with both hands, and so braced himself against the undertow, hiding under water as gulls and ducks do: again, as the wave fell back, he came up and ran forward. Seeing him succeed, I followed suit. Some men standing on the beach reach out very long poles to one another, and hold themselves firm against the sweep of the waves — stout men, used to water — so that the furthest reached his pole to the swimmer. Taking hold of this, and all pulling back to the shore, he was got safe to dry land. In this way some few were saved.

A. How many?

B. Seven: but, out of these, two fainted with the heat when they reached the fire.

A. How many of you were on board?

B. Fifty-eight.

A. O cruel sea! To give back so few from such a number!

B. Here we felt the incredible kindness of the people, who with wonderful eagerness supplied us everything — shelter, fire, food, clothes, and supplies for travelling.

A. What people was it?

B. Dutch.

A. There is none kinder than that — though it is surrounded with fierce nations. You'll not try the sea again, I fancy, after this.

B. Not unless God takes away my sober senses.

A. And I would rather hear such tales, than try it myself.

CHARADE

(Such as may have been addressed by the young Virgil to a fair maid of Mantua)

From "Day-dreams of a Schoolmaster."

BY D'ARCY W. THOMPSON.

O mea bellula cara puellula,
In meo pectore quod micat Primulom
Est et erit tui plenom amore:
O si calfâr' io primuli ignibus
Illud Secundulom, quod gremi' in tuo
Urit me frigidiore nitore!
Dom mea carmina vesperi pérlegis,
Mal' ominato ne Totulom impleat
Crudelitate te, meque dolore;
Sed te, puellul', Amoris aucellula *
Prætrevolans tuom impleat gremiom
Debito tu' amatoris amore.

NOTE.—The answer to this Charade may be found, page 6 of the Vocabulary. The learner will observe the antique and rustic form of several words. Something of its movement and spirit is given in the following:

O little maiden, my dearest and prettiest,
Here in my bosom my First that is quivering
Is and shall ever be faithful to thee:
Ah! might I melt with its flames that are scorching me
That frozen Second, which still in thy colder breast,
Frostily glittering, desolates me!
While to my lay thou at even art listening,
Let not my Whole, dear, with croak evil-ominous,
Fill thee with cruelty — fill me with pain;
But, little maiden, may Love's light-winged messenger,
Fluttering over, shed into thy bosom
A love which thy lover's due renders again!

* Diminutive of avicella, little bird.

NURSERY SONGS

1. Bye, Baby Bunting.

Bye, Baby Bunting!
Father's gone a hunting;
Mother's gone a milking;
Sister's gone a silking:
Brother's gone to buy a skin
To wrap Baby Bunting in.

2. Hey my Chickie.

Hey, my chickie, my chickie,
  Hey, my chickie, my deary!
Such a sweet birdie as this
  Was neither far or neary.
Here we go up, up, up,
  Here we go down, down, downy:
Here we go backwards and forwards,
  And here we go round, round, roundy.

3. Poor Robin.

The North wind doth blow,
And we shall have snow:
And what will poor Robin do then
  Poor thing?

He'll sit in a barn,
And keep himself warm,
And hide his head under his wing,
  Poor thing!

IN LATIN.

[From "Arundines Cami."]

1. Dormias.

Dormias bellule, care puellule!
Pater erraticus abît venaticus;
Lacte matercula apparat fercula;
Soror cum fiscinâ quærit bombycina;
Frater, his gravior — frater, his suavior —
Redît cum vellere, quo sciat pellere
Frigus a bellulo fratre puellulo.

2. O mea Pullula.

O mea pullula blandula,
O mea pullula suavis!
Procul in terris, aut prope,
Non est, ut hæc rara avis!
Hîc sursum, et sursum, et sursum
Deorsum, deorsum, hîc imus:
Hîc rursum et prorsum cursamus,
Et circum et circum redimus.

3. Rubicilla.

Stridet ventus Borealis,
Imber ingruet nivalis;
Quo se vertet horâ in illâ
Rubicilla?

In granario sedebit,
Plumeâ tepens fovebit
Molle caput sub axillâ,
Rubicilla!

4. Mistress Mary.

Mistress Mary, quite contrary,
How does your garden grow?
With silver bells, and cockle-shells,
And hyacinths, all of a row.

5. A Solemn Dirge.

Ding dong bell!
The cat's in the well.
Who put her in?
Little Johnny Green.
What a naughty boy was that
To drown poor harmless pussy-cat!

6. Twinkle, Twinkle.

Twinkle, twinkle, little Star!
How I wonder what you are!
Up above the world so high
Like a diamond in the sky.

When the blazing Sun is gone,
When he nothing shines upon,
Then you show your little light
Twinkle, twinkle, all the night.

Then the traveller in the dark
Thanks you for your tiny spark:
He could not see which way to go
If you did not twinkle so.

In the dark blue sky you keep,
And often through my curtains peep:
For you never shut your eye
Till the sun is in the sky.

4. O mea Maria.

O mea Maria, tota contraria,
Quid tibi crescit in horto?
Testæ et crotali sunt mihi flosculi,
Cum hyacínthino [105] serto.

5. Carmen Luctuosum.

Æs sacrum sonet: æs mæstum tonet!
Obît in luteo Felis puteo.
Quis sic, mihi dic, merserit illîc?
Quisnam hoc facinus? — puer est Prasinus.
Proh cor durum, miserum puerum!
Proh ridiculum Johanniculum,
Immergere tam felem immeritam!

6. Mica, Mica.

Mica, mica, parva Stella!
Miror quænam sis, tam bella!
Splendens eminus in illo,
Alba velut gemma, cælo.

Quando fervens Sol discessit,
Nec calore prata pascit,
Mox ostendis lumen purum,
Micans, micans, per obscurum.

Tibi, noctu qui vagatur,
Ob scintillulam gratatur:
Ni micares tu, non sciret
Quas per vias errans iret.

Meum sæpe thálamum luce
Specularis curiosâ;
Neque carpseris soporem
Donec venit Sol per auram.

HIAWATHA

BY H. W. LONGFELLOW.

1. Hiawatha's Childhood.

Then the little Hiawatha
Learned of every bird its language,
Learned their names and all their secrets,
How they built their nests in Summer,
Where they hid themselves in Winter;
Talked with them whene'er he met them,
Called them "Hiawatha's Chickens."

Of all beasts he learned the language,
Learned their names and all their secrets,
How the beavers built their lodges,
Where the squirrels hid their acorns,
How the reindeer ran so swiftly,
Why the rabbit was so timid;
Talked with them whene'er he met them,
Called them "Hiawatha's Brothers."

Then Iagoo, the great boaster,
He the marvellous story-teller,
He the traveller and the talker,
Made a bow for Hiawatha;
From a branch of ash he made it,
From an oak-bough made the arrows,
Tipped with flint, and winged with feathers,
And the cord he made of deerskin.

Then he said to Hiawatha;
"Go, my son, unto the forest,
Where the red deer herd together,
Kill for us a famous roebuck.
Kill for us a deer with antlers!"

Forth into the forest straightway,
All alone walked Hiawatha
Proudly, with his bow and arrows;

1. Hiawathæ Pueritia.

Deinde parvus ille Hiawatha
Avium omnigenûm sermonem didicit,
Harumque et nomina et artes arcanas;
Quo pacto æstate nidificarent;
Ubinam hieme se absconderent.
Hisce quoties obviàm fieret, colloquebatur,
*Pullos*que Hiawathæ appellabat.
Ferarum mox itidem didicit sermonem,
Nominaque earum et artes arcanas:
Ut fibri casulas contabularent,
Ubinam sciuri glandes conderent;
Tum, quàm velox curreret tarandus,
Quare metueret adeò cunículus.
Hosce, si quando forent obvii, compellabat, Indiditque nomen, Fratres Hiawathæ.
Deinceps Iago, summus jactator,
Mirandarum narrator fabularum,
Peregrinator, loquax nimiùm,
Arcum confecit Hiawathæ
E ramo fraxineo figuratum,
Cum sagittis e quernâ virgâ,
Silice præfixis, ponè pennatis,
Proque nervo intendit pellem cervinam:
Atque ille Hiawathæ dixit,
"In silvam abi mi puer,
Eò ubi cervi congregantur.
Grandem tu capream occidito,
Cornutum nobis damam afferto."
Foras protinus in silvam
Solívagus incessit Hiawatha
Exsultanter, cum arcu et sagittis:

And the birds sang round him, o'er him,
"Do not shoot us, Hiawatha!"
Sang the robin, sang the blue-bird,
"Do not shoot us, Hiawatha!"
Up the oak-tree sprang the squirrel,
In and out among the branches,
Coughed and chattered from the oak-tree,
Laughed, and said between his laughing,
"Do not shoot me, Hiawatha!"
And the rabbit from his pathway
Leaped aside, and at a distance
Sat erect upon his haunches,
Half in fear and half in frolic,
Saying to the little hunter,
"Do not shoot me, Hiawatha!"
Hidden in the alder-bushes,
There he waited till the deer came,
Till he saw two antlers lifted,
Saw two eyes look from the thicket,
Saw two nostrils point to windward,
And a deer came down the pathway,
Flecked with leafy light and shadow.
And his heart within him fluttered,
Trembled like the leaves above him,
Like the birch-leaf palpitated,
As the deer came down the pathway.
Then, upon one knee uprising,
Hiawatha aimed an arrow;
Scarce a twig moved with his motion,
Scarce a leaf was stirred or rustled,
But the wary roebuck started,
Stamped with all his hoofs together,
Listened with one foot uplifted,
Leaped as if to meet the arrow;
Ah! the singing, fatal arrow,
Like a wasp it buzzed and stung him!

Circùmque ac suprà aves

Iterabat rubecula, cyáneola,

Super quercum exsiluit sciurus,
Seque induens exuens frondibus
Tussivit, garrivit e quercu,
Ridens; atque inter ridendum

In obliquum prósilit: ibi longè

Inter alnorum dumos recónditus
Cervorum adventum opperiebatur,
Donec cornua duo sensit sublevari,
Duo oculos e dumeto prospicere.
Duo nares ad ventum dírigi:
Mox désilit dama in semitam
Umbris foliorum distinctam.
Sanè palpitabat cor venatoris,
Velut supernè tremebant circà

Dum fera semitam decurrit.
At uno suffultus genu
Hiawatha emisit sagittam.

Dein prosilit, ut sagittæ occursurus.
Heu! canorâ illâ ac dirâ sagittâ,
Velut a vespâ stridente, pungitur!

2. Hiawatha's Sailing.

"Give me of your bark, O Birch-Tree!
Of your yellow bark, O Birch-Tree!
Growing by the rushing river,
Tall and stately in the valley!
I a light canoe will build me,
That shall float upon the river,
Like a yellow leaf in Autumn,
Like a yellow water-lily!
"Lay aside your cloak, O Birch-Tree!
Lay aside your white-skin wrapper!
For the Summer-time is coming,
And you need no white-skin wrapper!"
Thus aloud cried Hiawatha
In the solitary forest,
When the birds were singing gayly,
In the Moon of Leaves were singing,
And the sun, from sleep awaking,
Started up and said, "Behold me!"
And the tree with all its branches
Rustled in the breeze of morning,
Saying, with a sigh of patience,
"Take my cloak, O Hiawatha!"
With his knife the tree he girdled;
Just beneath its lowest branches,
Just above the roots, he cut it,
Till the sap came oozing outward;
Down the trunk, from top to bottom,
Sheer he cleft the bark asunder;
With a wooden wedge he raised it,
Stripped it from the trunk unbroken.
"Give me of your boughs, O Cedar!
Of your strong and pliant branches,
My canoe to make more steady,
Make more strong and firm beneath me!"

2. Hiawathæ Cymba.

1. Betulæ dixit Hiawatha,
"Gilvam da mihi corticem tu,
Quæ amnem juxta rapidum in valle
Excelsa et procera crescis!
Cymbam volo levem contexere,
Quæ summo amni innatet
Velut Auctumni folium,
Velut luteum aquatile lilium.
"Quare, O Betula! pellem tuam,
Albæ cutis involucrum, exue;
Nam adest, ecce! æstas;
Neque jam tegumento est opus."
Talia magnâ voce Hiawatha
Solum per saltum insonuit,
Dum aves supernè hilariter
Mense florifero cantillabant;
Et cælorum lumen maximum
Sol, experrectus somno, Exsiliens clamabat, "Ecce me!"
At arbor in aurâ matutinâ
Cunctos per ramos agitata,
Cum suspirio dixit patiens,
"Ergo capias tu pellem meam."
Tum cultro amputavit corticem
Infimis sub ramis suprà,
Summis super radicibus infrà,
Donec exsudaret succus.
Mox truncum désuper ad imum
Dissecuit planè corticem,
Quam, ligneo sublevatam cuneo,
Integram trunco detraxit.
11. "Ramorum, Cedre! tuorum aliquot
Validorum da mihi, ac flexilium,
Qui cymbam mihi constabiliant,

Through the summit of the Cedar Went a sound, a cry of horror,
Went a murmur of resistance;
But it whispered, bending downward,
"Take my boughs, O Hiawatha!"
Down he hewed the boughs of cedar,
Shaped them straightway to a framework,
Like two bows he formed and shaped them,
Like two bended bows together.
"Give me of your roots, O Tamarack!
Of your fibrous roots, O Larch-Tree!
My canoe to bind together,
So to bind the ends together
That the water may not enter,
That the river may not wet me!"
And the Larch, with all its fibres,
Shivered in the air of morning,
Touched his forehead with its tassels,
Said, with one long sigh of sorrow,
"Take them all, O Hiawatha!"
From the earth he tore the fibres,
Tore the tough roots of the Larch-Tree,
Closely sewed the bark together,
Bound it closely to the framework.
"Give me of your balm, O Fir-Tree!
Of your balsam and your resin,
So to close the seams together
That the water may not enter,
That the river may not wet me!"
And the Fir-Tree, tall and sombre,
Sobbed through all its robes of darkness,
Rattled like a shore with pebbles,
Answered wailing, answered weeping,
"Take my balm, O Hiawatha!"
And he took the tears of balsam,
Took the resin of the Fir-Tree,

Addantque infrà firmitatem."
Cedrum pertentavit summam
Horror atque ejulans querela,
Quasi contumaciam mussitans:
Tamen deflexa susurravit,
"Ramos meos, si vis, capias."
Jam cedrinos ramos succídit,
Atque in compaginem fabricatur
Instar parium compositorum arcuum.
III. "E contortis tuis radicibus,
O Larix! da mihi aliquot,
Quæ cymbæ bene cólligent
Oras, ne madefiam,
Irrumpente undâ fluvii!"
Tum cunctas per fibras Larix
Aurâ matutínâ inhorrescens,
Cirris suis fronte ejus tactâ,
Longùm suspiravit mærens:
"Ergo cunctas, Hiawatha, capias."
Ille tenaces láricis fibras
Vi multâ érutas ex humo
Cum cortice ipsâ consuit,
Cum compagine astrictè colligat.
IV. "Balsamum da mihi," inquit,
"Resinamque tuam, O Abies!
Quâ suturas arctè conjungam
Fluvii undam exclusuras,
Ne irrumpens me madefaciat"
Atque Abies procéra et pullata
Per nigrantia sua vestimenta suspiravit,
Instarque littoris lapillis plangentis
Fletu luctuoso respondit:
"Ergo balsamum tu capias meum."
Itaque balsami cepit lacrimas,
Et resinam ex abiete multam,
Quibus óblita, unaquæque sutura

Smeared therewith each seam and fissure,
Made each crevice safe from water.
"Give me of your quills, O Hedgehog!
I will make a necklace of them,
Make a girdle for my beauty,
And two stars to deck her bosom!"
From a hollow tree the Hedgehog
With his sleepy eyes looked at him,
Shot his shining quills, like arrows,
Saying, with a drowsy murmur,
Through the tangle of his whiskers,
"Take my quills, O Hiawatha!"
From the ground the quills he gathered,
Stained them red and blue and yellow,
With the juice of roots and berries;
Into his canoe he wrought them,
Round its waist a shining girdle,
Round its bows a gleaming necklace,
On its breast two stars resplendent.
Thus the Birch Canoe was builded
In the valley, by the river,
In the bosom of the forest;
And the forest's life was in it,
All its mystery and its magic,
All the lightness of the birch-tree,
All the toughness of the cedar,
All the larch's supple sinews;
And it floated on the river
Like a yellow leaf in Autumn,
Like a yellow water-lily.
Paddles none had Hiawatha,
Paddles none he had or needed,
For his thoughts as paddles served him
And his wishes served to guide him;
Swift or slow at will he glided,
Veered to right or left at pleasure.

Ac rima excluderet aquam.
v. "Spinas mihi tuo ex corpore,
O Erinaceë," inquit, "da cunctas;
Quibus collarem fabricer catellam
Ac cingulum Veneri meæ,
Duasque stellas thoraceas."
Ex cavâ árbore Erinaceüs
Oculis circumspectans veternosis,
Spinas, sagittarum instar projecit,
Per implexam narium barbam
Inter sopores murmurans,
"Ergo capias tu spinas meas."
Ille ex humo collectas spinas
Radícum ac baccarum succo
Tinxit in rubrum, cæruleum, croceum:
Has cymbæ interstinxit,
Lucidum ventri cingulum,
Proræ fulgentem torquem,
Par stellarum pro mammis micans.
Sic betulea cymba in valle
Propter amnem est contexta,
Ipso in gremio silvæ.
Ergo vita inerat silvestris,
Horrenda sanè ac magica;
E Betulâ sua levitas,
E Cedro suum robur,
E Lárice nervorum lentitudo.
Jamque innatabat amni
Velut auctumnale folium.
Velut luteum aquatile lilium.
Neque erant remi Hiawathæ,
Neque rémige omnino opus erat.
Nam ipsius voluntate cymba,
Et nutu animi, movebatur;
Velociter, lentè, dextrâ, sinistrâ,
Progrediens, recedens, se convertens.

Primò igitur ranæ, sonitu territæ, in imâ palude sese abdiderunt. Mox autem, cùm vidérent trabem immotam innoxiamque, paullatim ad tantum audaciæ pervenêre, ut insilientes in eam, ibi subsíderent. Tum, dedignantes se talem habere regem, iterum ad Jovem convenêre; orantes ut sibi regem alterum daret; primum enim inertem esse, atque nequam. Sed Jupiter, iratus, immisit ciconiam, a quâ captæ sunt ac devoratæ.

THE GOLDEN EGG.

[Translated from "Dream Children."]

Olim gallina, errans præter limites agelli, intrârat * fundum divitis agricolæ. Ubi cùm deambularet, temptans fimum, aut scalpturiens in horto, invenit Phœnicópterum † stantem, ut mos est ei volucri,[103] uno in pede — altero alicubi reposito [R. 29] — quasi in terram defixum.[R. 2]

Gallina stetit aliquamdiu intuens, incerta utrùm mirum hoc animal vivum esset,[78] necne: stans et ipsa pede in uno, intorquens digitos alterius. Flamingo vidit eam, conivitque: tum gallina ausa est loqui.

"Salve!" inquit; "pace tuâ dicam:[27] sed quomodo vadis uno pede? an es verè infixus humo?" [R. 13] Gallina autem admodum erat simplex, et omnino ignara consuetudinum mundi; aliter, nimis impudenter locuta esset.

"Satis bene vivo," respondit Flamingo, magnâ cum dignitate: "Est mihi gravius aliquid faciendum,[96] quàm ut semper hinc illinc circumvager: multa revolvo, cogitabundus mecum de omnibus rebus."

Gallina, his vocibus auditis, cepit subitum consilium, — unicum, pæne dixerim, ‡ quod gallinis umquam venit in mentem, nisi quod pertineat [R. 35] ad quotidianum[105] victum. "Esne" rogavit "avis sapiens?"

Adnuit Flamingo: "Næ," inquit, "licet[108] quidem istud dicere."

* Pluperfect, for intraverat.

† A Greek word, meaning scarlet-wing: i. e. a Flamingo. ‡ As I may say.

"Potesne igitur docere quomodo gallina aurea pepererit[78] ova?"

"Prorsus intelligo," respondit Flamingo: "a Ciconiis didici, quæ Orientem et Ægyptum et Persida visunt. Nam in iis maximè regionibus factum est. Anus quædam habuit gallinam —"

"Id planè memoriâ teneo," inquit pennigera comes: "oro ut ad rem venias; nam valde cupio audire."

"Ab initio oportet[108] exordiri," refert Flamingo. "Anus quædam habuit gallinam —"

"Immo, intelligo," gallina inquit, "et ova aurea peperit. Sed quomodo? hæc res est."

"Suadeo tibi ut discas bonos mores," respondet Flamingo: "Anus quædam habuit gallinam, quæ ova aurea peperit, singula singulis diebus. Anus autem cogitabat, Singula singulis diebus — hau sat est: satius erat dissecare gallinam, et cuncta simul ova habere. Cepit ergo cultrum, eamque dissecuit: sed ecce! nulla ova inerant. Hinc intelligendum —"[96]

"Num quomodo ova pepererit?" interpellat gallina.

"Hinc intelligendum" iterat Flamingo, "ut sis contentus[R. 24] eo quod habes."

"Sed quomodo ova parta sunt?" ait gallina, insistens.

"Istud numquam compertum est," respondet Flamingo.

"At promisisti te mihi dicturum."[86]

"Vin' ergo me sinere ad finem venire?" ait alter, iratus: "est mihi[103] in animo nil amplius dicere. At tu saltem" inquit, fastidiosè, "numquam poteris[88] aurea ova párere. Volo tamen quod ciconiæ mihi dixerunt id tibi referre: sed cave interpelles."

"Perge modò" inquit gallina.

"Ciconiæ autem omnia nôrunt; quotannis veniunt in Septemtrionem, et de hac re narrant. Sed non huc migrant: hæc audivi, cùm aliàs peregrinabar. Ne existimâris[27] me semper hîc habitâsse:" et Flamingo superbiosè circumspectavit.

"In isto colle ergo habitâsti?" interrogavit gallina: "unus e gallis nostris dehinc commigravit."

"Quem mihi collem narras? trans mare huc demigravi."

"Ego scio," gallina interpellat, alacriter: "Anas noster omnia me docuit: longè, longissimè natavit. Sed perge, quæso: non interpellabo."

Primò igitur Flamingo sibi proposuit nihil ultrà dicere: sed magnopere cupivit sapientiam suam ostentare; itaque progressus est:

"Ciconiæ mihi dixerunt rem denuo vel pluries esse factam,—ad hunc modum. Eundum[97] est foras, sub vesperum frigidissimum totius[65] hiemis, horâ[R. 28] quâ aliæ gallinæ ad perticam eunt, et ovum pariendum[96] inter vepres. Ibi usque ad mane vigilandum, juxta stanti;[96] solis[R. 5] orientis primi radii ovum in aurum convertent. Sic audivi, et haud dubiè verum est. De hac re præceptum composui: Semper—"

"Vive, vale," inquit gallina; "perlibenter manerem te auditura[94] loquentem; sed jam advesperascit."[106] Hæc locuta, abiit.

"Animal verè rusticum!" ait Flamingo: et, altero pede reposito, hic quoque in alteram partem spatiatur.

Hiems jam venerat, et nox erat frigidissima: quod ánates intellexêre; nam aquarum frígore noscitabant. Facilè credas[27] gallinam retinuisse[85] ea quæ ex Flamingone audierat: et nemini alteri[65] dixisse. Cùm igitur ceteræ gallinæ in perticâ consedissent, ea nusquam est inventa: sed aër frigidior erat quàm ut speculatum irent. Manè autem, dum ceteri hortum circumibant, aliquantulum[102] cibi passim carpentes, vel terram gelu duram rimantes, ad vepres tandem pervenêre. Quid illic appáret? inter vepres, aureum ovum! at propter ovum conspexêre gallinam congelatam, rigentem. Ovum quidem pepererat; fortiter, fideliter, vigilârat; sed, cùm radii matutini ovum in aurum verterunt, gallinam glacialem recalefacere nequiverunt.

Tum gallinæ omnes, congregatæ, cum pullis gallisque, circumstetêre veneranter. Princeps gallorum juxta ovum constitit, et magnâ voce cantavit. Cantum en quàm clarum! quàm velut tubâ sonantem! quàm resonantem, quàm diuturnum, quàm triumphantem! Singulis pedibus pulli circumstetêre; alterum præ frigore retraxerant: obstupuêre, conticuêre omnes! Tandem gallinæ inter se dicere cœperunt: "Nec quidquam ista nos docuit! quî nunc cognosci potest, quâ ratione sit factum?"

Quid autem ovo[41] faciendum erat? Decrevit gallus. Gallinæ[R. 11] maculentæ imperat, ut ovo in nido insideat, videatque quid foret partum. Ita gallina maculata sedebat. Per quinquaginta dies sedebat — viginti diebus[R. 27] ampliùs quàm gallinis[103] mos est: sed statutum erat ut aliquid ex ovo gigneretur. Sedebat usque dum moreretur: nam, quinquagesimo die,[R. 28] cùm gallus jam ediceret ne diutiùs consideret, obiit: et usque adhuc ecce aureum ovum! Ipse rostro tútudit, sed non valebat testam frangere. Universi rostris tutudêre, quàm multi multæque circumsistere poterant; sed testa perfringi recusavit. Tum volverunt ovum extra nidum, in lapideum pavimentum. Volvitur longiùs quàm destinabant; nam non destitit volvi, donec in impluvium cecidit; et anas fortissimus, immersus in undas, nequidquam quæsivit. J. H. A.

CRŒSUS AND SOLON.

[From Herodotus, Book I, chapters 30-32; 86, 87.]

SOLON, the wisest of the Athenians, lived about six hundred years before Christ. After establishing laws and a constitution for Athens, he went upon a journey to the East, and visited Crœsus, the wealthy and powerful king of Lydia, a district of Asia Minor. It is of his visit here that the following story is told.

Peregrè profectus Solon in Ægyptum, se cóntulit Sardes,* R. 31 ad Crœsum. Quò ut advenit, in regiâ hospitio acceptus est a Crœso. Tum, tertio aut quarto post die, jussu Crœsi, ministri regis circumduxêre Solonem, ostentantes thesauros omnes, et quidquid ibi magni R. 6 et opulenti inerat.84

Quæ cùm ille spectâsset, et cuncta esset 69 contemplatus, tali modo eum percunctatus est Crœsus: "Hospes Atheniensis," 105 inquit, "incessit me cupído ex te sciscitandi,97 quem tu adhuc víderis 78 omnium hominum R. 6 beatissimum." Nempe, quòd se ipsum hominum beatissimum esse putaret,R. 35 idcirco hanc illi quæstionem proposuit.

At Solon, nullâ usus adsentatione,R. 25 sed ut res erat, "Ego verè," inquit "beatissimum vidi Tellum Atheniensem."

* Sardis, the capital of Lydia.

Quod miratus Crœsus, quærit, "Quâ tandem ratione Tellum beatissimum judicas?"

Cui ille: "Tellus," inquit, "florente civitate,[112] filios habuerat bonos viros honestosque, et eorum liberos viderat, omnes superstites; idemque vitæ finem habuit splendidissimum: nam in prœlio postquam fortiter pugnavit, hostemque in fugam vertit, honestissimâ morte[R. 25] defunctus est; et, eodem loco quo cecidit, publicè sepultus est, et magnificè honoratus."

Ita cùm Solon Crœsum admonuisset, interrogare hic institit, quemnam secundum ab illo vidisset[78] beatissimum; existimans utique secundas certè partes sese laturum.[94] At ille "Cleobin," inquit, "et Bitonem; de quibus hæc etiam narratur historia. Cùm festus dies ageretur Junonis Argivæ,* oporteretque matrem horum bigis in templum vehi, nec in tempore ex agro adessent boves; tunc juvenes, jugum ipsi subeuntes, plaustrum traxerunt quo mater vehebatur; eoque[112] per quadraginta quinque stadia tracto,[112] ad templum pervenerunt. Quo facto,[112] optimus eisdem[R. 13] obtigit vitæ exitus; ostenditque in his Numen, melius esse hominibus mori, quàm vivere. Nam mater, stans ante simulacrum, precata est deam, ut filiis[R. 14] suis id daret, quod optimum esset contingere homini. Post hanc precationem, peracto sacrificio, juvenes, cùm in ipso templo somno se dedissent, non ampliùs resurrexerunt; sed hoc vitæ exitu[R. 25] sunt perfuncti."

Tum vero subiratus Crœsus, "Hospes Atheniensis," ait, "nostra verò felicitas adeò abs te in nihilum projicitur, ut ne privatis quidem hominibus æquiparandos[96] nos existimes?"

Cui ille "Crœse," inquit, "in diuturno tempore multa videre est* quæ quis nolit,[R. 35] atque etiam tolerare multa. Jam te quidem ego et opulentum video, et multorum hominum regem; istud vero, quod ex me quærebas, de te non prædicabo, priusquàm te vitâ bene defunctum audiero. In omni re respiciendus[96] finis est, in quem sit res exitura: multos enim Deus, postquam felicitatem eis ostendit, funditus dein evertit."

Post Solonis discessum, gravis divinitus vindicta Crœsum excepit: hac causâ, ut conjicere licet,[108] quòd se ipsum hominum beatissimum judicaret. Nam multos post annos, captus a Persis,† ad regem Cyrum ductus est: qui Crœsum, compedibus vinctum, jussit imponi ingenti rogo,[R. 13] ut vivus combureretur.[R. 36] Tum vero aiunt in mentem Crœso[34] venisse illud Solonis, Neminem viventem esse beatum. Dicitur ergo, post longum silentium, ex imo péctore vocem edidisse, et ingemiscens ter clamâsse Solonem!

Tum Cyrus, hoc audito, jussit interpretes e Crœso quærere, quis ille esset[78] quem invocaret; illique accedentes quæsiverunt. Sed Crœsus initio nihil iis respondit. At iis instantibus, et operosè urgentibus, dixit demum quod res erat: quo pacto olim Solon ad se venisset,[78] Atheniensis; qui, cùm omnes suas opes esset contemplatus, pro nihilo eas duxisset; nec verò ea illum in se magis dixisse, quàm in universum genus hominum, et in eos maximè qui sibi ipsis viderentur esse beati.

* There is occasion, or one is likely to see, &c. † The Persians.

Hæc dum Crœsus referebat, jam incenso rogo, arsêre extrema circumcirca; Cyrus verò, ubi ex interpretibus cognovit ea quæ Crœsus dixisset, — pœnitentiâ ductus, et cogitans quid esset[78] quòd (cùm ipse homo esset) alium hominem, qui sese[R. 26] non inferior fuisset felicitate, vivum igni traderet; ad hæc veritus deorum vindictam, reputansque quàm nihil esset in rebus humanis stabile, — ociùs restingui jussit accensum ignem, Crœsumque inde deduci; verùm ii quibus id mandatum erat vim flammæ non ampliùs superare potuerunt.

Tum inter lácrimas Deum invocante Crœso,[R. 29] repente nubes, cùm serenum et tranquillum adhuc fuisset cælum, contrahebatur, coörtâque tempestate, et vehementissimo effuso imbre, ignis exstinctus est.

ROMAN STORIES.

1. How Horatius kept the Bridge.

[Livy, Book II. chap. 10]

After the kings had been expelled from Rome, the city was besieged and almost taken by the Etruscans, who held the ground beyond the Tiber.

Pons sublicius iter pæne hostibus dedit: ni unus vir fuisset, Horatius Cocles; qui, positus forte in statione pontis, reprehensans singulos, obsistens, obtestansque deûm et hominum fidem, testabatur: "Nequidquam, deserto præsidio,[R. 29] fugitis. Si transitum pontem a tergo relinquétis, jam plus hostium in Palatio Capitolioque, quàm in Janiculo, erunt.* Itaque moneo, prædíco vobis, ut pontem ferro, igni, quâcumque vi poteritis, interrumpatis. Ego impetum hostium, quantùm corpore uno obsisti [110] potest, excipiam."

Vadit inde in primum áditum pontis; insignisque inter conspecta cedentium * terga, ipso miraculo [R. 20] audaciæ obstupefecit hostes. Duos tamen cum eo pudor tenuit, Spurium Lartium ac Titum Herminium, ambos claros genere factisque. Cum his primam periculi procellam parumper sustinuit; deinde eos quoque ipsos, exiguâ parte pontis relictâ, cedere in tutum coëgit.

Circúmferens inde truces minaciter oculos ad proceres Etruscorum, nunc singulos provocare, [R. 33] nunc increpare omnes: "Servitia regum superborum! vestræ libertatis [R. 8] immémores, alienam oppugnatum [98] huc venistis?"

Cunctati aliquamdiu sunt, dum alius alium circumspectant: pudor deinde cómmovet aciem; et, clamore sublato, undique in unum hostem tela conjiciunt. Quæ cùm in objecto scuto hæsissent, neque ille minùs obstinatus pontem obtinéret, jam impetu conabantur detrudere virum; cùm simul fragor rupti pontis, simul clamor Romanorum, alacritate perfecti operis sublatus,† pavore subito impetum sustinuit.

Tum Cocles, "Tiberine pater!" inquit, "te sancte precor, hæc arma et hunc militem propitio flumine accipias." Ita, sic armatus,‡ in Tiberim desiluit, incolumisque ad suos tranavit, — rem ausus plus famæ habituram § ad posteros, quàm fidei. 2. Coriolanus and his Mother.

[Valerius Maximus, Book V. ch. 4.]

Coriolanus was a brave general, but haughty, and hated by the people, who banished him from the city.

Coriolanus, maximi vir animi, et altissimi consilii, optimèque de Republicâ meritus, iniquissimæ damnationis ruinâ prostratus, ad Volscos, infestos tunc Romanis, confugit. Magno ubique pretio [R. 20] virtus æstimatur. Itaque, quò latebras quæsítum [98] vénerat, ibi brevi summum adeptus est imperium: evenitque, ut [eum] quem pro se salutarem imperatorem cives habere noluerant, pæne pestiferum adversùs se ducem experirentur. Frequenter enim fusis exercitibus nostris, victoriarum suarum gradibus, áditum juxta mœnia urbis Volsco militi struxit. Missi ad eum deprecandum legati nihil profecérunt. Missi deinde sacerdótes, cum ínfulis, æquè sine effectu rediérunt. Stupebat senatus; trepidabat populus: viri páriter ac mulieres exitium ímminens lamentabantur.

Tunc Veturia, Coriolani mater, Volumniam uxorem ejus, et liberos, secum trahens, castra Volscorum petiit. Quam ubi filius adspexit, "Expugnâsti," inquit, "et vicisti iram meam, patria,[81] precibus hujus admotis; [112] cujus amori [R. 14] te, quamvis meritò mihi invisam, dono." Continuòque Romanum agrum hostilibus armis [R. 22] liberavit.

3. How Cincinnatus was called to Power.

[Livy, Book III. chap. 26.]

In the year 389, B. C., Rome was taken and burnt by the Gauls, who then held the north of Italy. A garrison remained on the steep hill of the Capitol, but this was nearly surprised by the enemy, who climbed the rocky side of the hill by night.

STORIES OF THE MIDDLE AGE.

1. A Frank at the Eastern Court.

[From St. Gall's Life of Charlemagne, written about A.D. 885.]

CHARLEMAGNE (Karl or Charles the Great), King of the Franks, was crowned Emperor of the West in the year 800. This story is told of an officer of his, sent as envoy to the Greek Emperor's court, at Constantinople.

témpore, ad urbem quamdam regiam cum sociis venisset, aliis aliò divísis, ipse cuidam epíscopo commendatus est: qui quum jejuniis et orationibus incessanter incúmberet, legatum illum pæne continuâ mortificavit inediâ.

Vernali autem temperie jam aliquantulùm arridente,[112] præsentavit eum Regi.* Qui et interrogavit eum qualis sibi idem videretur epíscopus. At ille, ex imis præcordiis alta suspiria trahens, "Sanctissimus est" ait "ille vester episcopus, quantùm sine Deo possíbile est." Ad quod stupefactus Rex "Quómodo" inquit "sine Deo aliquis sanctus esse potest?" Tum ille "Scriptum est" inquit "Deus cáritas est, quâ[R. 22] iste vacuus est."

Tunc rex vocavit eum ad convivium suum, et inter medios próceres collocavit. A quibus talis lex constituta erat, ut nullus in mensâ regis, indígena sive ádvena, aliquod animal, vel corpus animális, in partem aliam convérteret; sed ita tantùm, ut pósitum erat, de superiore parte manducaret.

Adlátus est autem piscis fluvialis, et pigmentis infusus, in disco pósitus. Quumque hospes idem, consuetúdinis illíus ignárus, piscem illum in partem alteram giraret, exsurgentes omnes dixérunt ad Regem: "Domne,† ita estis inhonorati, sicut nunquam anteriores vestri."

At ille, ingemiscens, dixit ad legatum illum, "Obstare non possum istis,[R. 13] quin morti continuò tradaris.[R. 36] Aliud pete, quodcumque volúeris, et complébo."

Tunc, parumper deliberans, cunctis audientibus, in hæc verba prorúpit: "Obsecro, domne Imperator, ut secundùm promissionem vestram concedatis mihi unam petitionem parvulam."

Et Rex ait, "Postula[31] quodcumque volueris, et impetrabis; præter quòd contra legem Græcorum vitam tibi concedere non possum."

Tum ille, "Hoc" inquit "unum moriturus[94] flagito, ut quicumque me piscem illum girare conspexit, oculorum lumine[R. 22] privetur."

Obstupefactus ad talem conditionem, Rex juravit quòd ipse hoc non vidisset, sed tantùm narrantibus credidisset. Deinde regina ita se cœpit excusare, "Per sanctam Mariam, ego illud non adverti." Non post multum autem direxit idem Rex legatorios suos ad gloriosissimum Károlum. Quumque venissent, fecit idem episcopus, vel socius ejus, comitem stabuli, in medio subjectorum suorum, throno sublimi considere, ut nequâquam alius quàm imperator credi posset. Quem ut legati viderunt, corruentes in terram, adorare voluerunt. Set a ministris repulsi, ad interiora prógredi sunt compulsi.

Quò quum venirent, videntes comitem palatii in medio procerum concionantem, Imperatorem † suspicati, terrâ[49] tenus sunt prostrati. Quumque et inde colaphis propellerentur, — dicentibus [eis] qui aderant Non hic est Imperator! — in ulteriora progressi, et invenientes magistrum mensæ regiæ, cum ministris ornatissimis, putantes Imperatorem, devoluti sunt in humum.

Indeque repulsi, repererunt in consistorio cubicularios Imperatoris circa magistrum suum, de quo non videretur dubium, quin ille princeps posset esse mortalium. Qui quum se quod non erat abnegâsset, ostendebat tamen, quâtenus, si fieri potuisset, in præsentiam Imperatoris augustissimi pervenire deberent.

3. How Queen Philippa saved the Burghers of Calais.

[Translated from the Chronicles of Froissart.]

In the year 1347, King Edward III., of England, after the battle of Crécy, had forced the city of Calais, by a long and painful siege, to ask for conditions of surrender. The story begins when the terms of the conqueror are first made known to the citizens, in the market square.

Ad sonum campanæ omnes convenêre, viri atque mulieres, valde cupientes aliquid novi[R. 6] audire, ut fit * eis qui famem tamdiu tolerârunt, ut nihil possint ampliùs. Quibus congressis, et in magnum atrium congregatis, viris[R. 1] atque mulieribus, Johannes quidam Viennensis, quàm humanissimè[82] poterat, significavit omnia verba jam ante narrata: "Res" inquit "non aliter se habere potest; et necesse est ut quàm brevissimè consulatis atque respondeatis."

Quo audito, cœpêre omnes tam vehementer plorare ac flere, ut nemo, quamvis ferreus, non simul mæreret. Et per spatium horæ, nec respondére nec loqui poterant; quin ipse Johannes Viennensis tantâ misericordiâ commotus est, ut abundè lacrimaret.

Paullo post, oppidanus gravis surrexit, ditissimus totius urbis — cui nomen Eustachio Sancti Petri — et coram[49] omnibus sic locutus est: "Miserum, cives mei, atque nefandum foret, si tantus populus fame sive aliter periret, aliquâ viâ salutis apparente; et magnum ejus meritum erit, qui talem calamitatem defendet. Immo, tantam habeo spem gratiæ veniæque, apud Deum Dominum nostrum, si pro hoc populo moriar, ut velim primus omnium[R. 6] mori; et libenter me tradam, cum merâ tunicâ, nudo capite, laqueo circa collum dato, misericordiæ[R. 14] Regis Anglicani."

Hæc ubi dixit, cuncti circumvenêre plorantes: complures, viri 'mulieresque, ei[R. 10] se projecêre ad pedes; maximèque flebile erat illic stare, illa audire, attendere, videre.

Deinde alter fortis oppidanus, dives et ipse admodum, cui duæ filiæ pulcherrimæ, ipse quoque óbtulit se comitem; tum tertius, homo locuples supellectile heredioque,[R. 20] addidit se comitem propinquis;[R. 14] fraterque ejus, quartus; deinde quintus; tum sextus. Hi omnes nudati, cum meris tunicis braccisque, et laqueis circum colla datis, ut a rege edictum erat, egressi sunt, portantes claves castelli et urbis: quisque manu tenuit aliquid clavium. . . .

Rex fortè tum in conclavi sedebat, magnâ cum frequentiâ comitum, baronum, equitum.* Certior factus 'oppidanos appropinquare,[85] cum præscripto apparatu, exiit in spatium ante castellum, omni cœtu nobilium comitante, magnâque insuper turbâ cupientium oppidanos videre. † Regina quoque Regem, dominum suum, secuta est.

Tum Gualterus quidam, qui oppidanos eò duxerat, cum multis aliis, accessit ad Regem, dixitque: "Rex domine noster, ecce obsides oppidanorum, utì jussisti." Rex paulisper sese continuit, sæviter eos intuens: nam omnes oppidanos magnopere óderat, propter immensa damna stragesque, jam ante ab eis in se facta.

* Observe that these are the modern titles, counts, barons, and knights.

† Of those eager to see the burghers.

Et sex oppidani, in genua coram rege procumbentes, junctis manibus, ita locuti sunt: "Domine noster, Rex clementissime, ecce nos hîc præsentes, nobilissimi natu[98] omnium civium, magni mercatores: huc attulimus, tradimusque tibi, claves urbis et castelli; sic vestiti utì vides, voluntati tuæ prorsus dediti, ut reliquos oppidanos servemus, tanta tamque dura jamdiu passos.[69] Placeat ergo tibi misereri nostri,[R. 8] pro virtute nobilitateque tuâ."

Neque verò quisquam aderat — princeps, eques, aut miles — qui præ misericordiâ lacrimis abstinere poterat; diuque omnes loqui nequiverunt. Nec mirum quidem; multum enim habet in se miserationis, homines videre tam prostratos, in tantum periculum lapsos.

Rex interea conspexit, admodum iratus; nam adeò durus erat, tantâque iracundiâ commotus, ut loqui non posset. Quum primùm loqui poterat, imperavit ut statim securi ferirentur.* Tum omnes principes equitesque qui aderant, instanter, magno cum fletu, obsecrârunt ut rex casum eorum miseraretur; sed noluit quidquam morari.

Deinde Gualterus, de quo suprà dictum est, ita loquitur: "O Rex clementissime, cóhibe iracundiam tuam. Est tibi fama ac laus summæ mansuetudinis atque nobilitatis: noli[99] igitur facinus patrare, quo laus tua obscuretur, aut quod quis tibi ut scelus objiciat. Nisi hominum[R. 8] horum eris miseritus, omnes nimiam tuam sævitiam incusabunt, qui tam crudeliter viros fortes interfeceris,[R. 35] ultrò sese offerentes misericordiæ tuæ, ut alios tutarentur."

* That they should be instantly beheaded.

Ad hoc dictum Rex, dentibus frendens, "Gualtere," inquit, "noli me frænare: ita esse oportet, et nequâquam aliter: carnifex statim adesto: isti oppidani tot militum meorum occiderunt, ut eis quoque profectò sit moriendum." [96]

Tunc generosa Regina Angliæ humiliter, demisso vultu, flensque tam luctuosè ut vix se sustinere posset, in genua sese prosternens ante Regem dominum suum, ita locuta est: "Domine mi benigne, ex eo tempore quum mare transivi, magno (ut ipse scis) cum periculo meo, nihil umquam a te poposci vel postulavi: hoc ergo humillimè oro, et pro meâ parte deposco — solum et unicum munus tum pio filio sanctæ Mariæ, tum pro tuo in me amore — ut horum sex hominum te misereat."

Rex paulisper reticuit, contemplans formosam uxorem, in genibus tam miseriter flentem: tandem aliquantulùm mitigatus — noluit enim irasci mulieri [R. 11] tam teneræ tamque humili — respondit: "At malim, mulier, te úbivis esse terrarum quam hîc: adeò instanter me hoc rogas, ut recusare non ausim: et, quamvis invitus, ecce, tibi istos libero: tu eis [R. 10] facito quodcumque voles."

Generosa Regina respondit: "Domine mi, maximas gratias ago."

Tum Regina surrexit: sex oppidanos resurgere jussit: laqueisque de collis detractis, in conclave eos gaudenter duxit: deinde, quum vestiti essent, paravit amplissimam cœnam, eosque securos de tecto dimisit: unde discessêre alius aliò, habitaturi in urbibus Picardiæ.* J. H. A.

MEDIÆVAL HYMNS.

1. Dies Iræ.

[Written by Thomas of Celano, a Franciscan monk of the Thirteenth Century. The entire hymn consists of eighteen stanzas.]

Dies iræ, dies illa
Solvet sæclum in favillâ:
Teste David cum Sibyllâ.

Quantus tremor est futurus,
Quando judex est venturus,
Cuncta strictè discussurus!

Tuba, mirum spargens sonum,
Per sepulcra regionum,
Coget omnes ante thronum.

Mors stupebit et natura,
Quum resurget creatura,
Judicanti responsura.

Liber scriptus proferetur,
In quo totum continetur,
Unde mundus judicetur.

Judex ergo quum sedebit,
Quidquid latet apparebit:
Nil inultum remanebit.

Quid sum miser tunc dicturus?
Quem patronum rogaturus,
Quum vix justus sit securus?

Rex tremendæ majestatis,
Qui salvandos salvas gratis,
Salva me, fons pietatis!

2. Stabat Mater.

[Composed in prison, about the year 1300, by Jacopone da Todi, a brilliant lawyer, who after his wife's death became a monk. The hymn consists of ten stanzas.]

Stabat mater dolorosa
Juxta crucem lacrimosa,
  Dum pendebat filius:
Cujus animam gementem,
Contristantem et dolentem
  Pertransivit gladius.

O quàm tristis et afflicta
Fuit illa benedicta
  Mater unigeniti!
Quæ mærebat, et dolebat,
Et tremebat, dum videbat
  Nati pœnas incliti.

Quis est homo qui non fleret,
Christi matrem si videret,
  In tanto supplicio?
Quis non posset contristari,
Piam matrem contemplari,
  Dolentem cum filio?

Pro peccatis suæ gentis
Vidit Jesum in tormentis,
  Et flagellis subditum!
Vidit dulcem suum natum
Moriendo desolatum,
  Dum emisit spiritum.

Sancta mater! istud agas:
Crucifixi fige plagas
  Cordi meo validè:

Tui nati vulnerati,
Tam dignati, pro me pati,
Pœnas mecum divide!

Fac me verè tecum flere,
Crucifixo condolere,
Donec ego vixero!
Juxta crucem tecum stare,
Te libenter sociare
In planctu desidero.

The ablative singular commonly ends in i. Many adjectives, as, inops, have only i; some, as sospĕs, only e. Comparatives, and participles in ns, when used as participles, have usually e; so also have adjectives used as nouns, as inops, a poor man, inŏpe.

Liquid stems, and a few mute stems, as dīves, inops, supplex, particeps, with those that have abl. sing. e, have gen. pl. um.

Some adjectives, as inops, sospes, are found only in the masc. and fem., and may be called adjectives of Common Gender.

Plus, more (N.), has gen. plūris; plur., nom. plures, plura; gen. plurium, etc.: complūres, several, has sometimes neut. pl. compluria. All other comparatives are declined like altior.

ALLEN'S LATIN COMPOSITION.

Introduction to Latin Composition by Professor W. F. ALLEN. New Edition, revised and enlarged.

This edition has been thoroughly revised, recast, and adapted to the Revised Edition of Allen and Greenough's Grammar, with parallel references to Gildersleeve and Harkness. About twenty-five preliminary Lessons have been added on elementary constructions; also, a new and enlarged general Vocabulary. In the introductory portion, special attention has been given to oral practice, with a view to the rapid acquisition of a good Vocabulary (taken largely from Cæsar) as well as the familiar knowledge of grammatical constructions. In the revision, and in the preparation of the preliminary exercises, the Editor has been greatly aided by the advice and coöperation of Mr. JOHN TETLOW, Principal of the Girls' Latin School, Boston.

[Ready in July.

In order to meet a very general demand, an edition of the

NEW LATIN METHOD

Will be published during the summer, with the "Parallel Exercises" greatly simplified, abridged, and accompanied by progressive exercises in "Reading at Sight" (interlined), taken chiefly from Cæsar. In these exercises the long vowels will be consistently marked throughout.

THE LETTERS OF THE YOUNGER PLINY.

Edited for Use in Schools and Colleges by TRACY PECK, Professor of Latin in Cornell University.

This edition will contain all the letters of Pliny, including the correspondence with the Emperor Trajan, and a commentary upon the entire series. The slight attention paid to these letters in our Latin courses has often been remarked and regretted. The light which they throw upon the public and private history of their time, the amiable and cultivated character of the writer, and their graceful style and exquisite Latinity, make them exceptionally instructive and interesting. [In preparation.

LATIN PRONUNCIATION.

A Brief Outline of the Roman, Continental, and English Methods, by D. B. KING, Adjunct Professor of Latin in Lafayette College.

Contains a few explanatory and historical paragraphs on the Roman, Continental, and English methods of pronouncing Latin, and a brief presentation of the main features of each, prepared for use at Lafayette College, where the character and arrangement of studies in English and Comparative Philology make it desirable that students should have a knowledge of both Roman and English methods.

The students are carefully taught in practice to use the English method, and to give the rules for the sound of the letters, this having been found a valuable aid in teaching English Pronunciation and the Philology of the English language. A knowledge of the Roman method, giving the sounds, in the main, as we believe Cicero and Virgil gave them, is required as a matter of historical information and culture, and as an important aid in determining the derivations of words and laws of phonetic change, and in illustrating the principles of Comparative Philology. Mailing price, 15 cents. [Ready.

LEIGHTON'S LATIN LESSONS

Will have references, in the next edition, to the Grammars of Andrews and Stoddard, Gildersleeve and Harkness.

WHITE'S FIRST LESSONS IN GREEK, REVISED EDITION. With references to the revised and enlarged edition of Goodwin's Greek Grammar, and printed from entirely new plates.

The publishers beg leave to call attention to the following changes which have been made in the new edition of the First Lessons in Greek.

The number of lessons has been increased from seventy-five to eighty. The five added lessons are on the verb, the treatment of which is thus distributed over more ground. By this enlargement the difficulty of single lessons on the verb is correspondingly decreased.

After λύω has been fully presented by moods, as in the first edition, a development of the Greek verb by tense-stems has been introduced. The seven tense-stems are now fully developed.

Contract verbs are presented, in this edition, in two lessons in place of one. The lesson on liquid verbs has been brought forward. The perfect and pluperfect middle and passive of liquid and mute verbs is now fully treated. A lesson has been added to Lessons LII. and LIII. giving in full the principal parts of twenty-five additional verbs. In the Lessons on the Formation of Words and on Prepositions it has now been possible to remove the body of the text, but the exercises of Lessons LIV. and LV. remain, and a complete set of exercises has been added to Lesson LXII.

Single words and phrases have been removed from the exercises, which now consist wholly of complete sentences. In the special vocabularies the parts of the verbs are given in full and no words are repeated. In the general vocabularies the words are more fully treated, especially the prepositions, the cases required by the verbs stated, and English cognate and borrowed words distinguished by different types.

New editions of the Pamphlet of Parallel References to Hadley's Grammar, and of the Key for the use of Teachers, are to follow.

An edition of the First Lessons in Greek is to be printed and published for the use of English schools, by Macmillan & Co. in England, simultaneously with the American edition. [Ready in July.

AN ILLUSTRATED VOCABULARY TO THE FIRST FOUR BOOKS OF XENOPHON'S ANABASIS. By JOHN WILLIAMS WHITE, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Greek in Harvard University.

The distinguishing features of this Vocabulary will be its illustrations, the fullness of its definitions, and its careful treatment of etymologies.

To be published both separately and bound with Goodwin and White's edition of the First Four Books of the Anabasis.

[Ready in September.

The next edition of

GOODWIN'S ANABASIS, GREEK READER, and SELECTIONS FROM XENOPHON and HERODOTUS, will have references to the new edition of Goodwin's Greek Grammar.

LEIGHTON'S NEW GREEK LESSONS.

With references to Hadley's Greek Grammar as well as to Goodwin's New Greek Grammar.

About seventy easy and well-graded lessons, both Greek and English, introduce the pupil to the first book of Xenophon's Anabasis, from which the Exercises and Vocabularies are mainly selected. Definite directions have been given in regard to the amount of the Grammar to be learned. The main aim has been, while introducing the simpler principles of syntax, to have the pupil master the Inflections and acquire a Vocabulary. In furtherance of this purpose, the exercises on the inflections have been increased, while those on syntax have been decreased. Vocabularies have been given under each lesson; and, in order to aid the pupil in memorizing them, some insight has been given into the derivation and into the composition of words, — how they are built up, by means of significance endings, from noun and verb stems, and from roots. The Prepositions are introduced from the first; and the pupil is taught the primary meanings, and then how these meanings are modified by the cases before which the Prepositions stand. Questions for Review and Examination as in the first edition. In rewriting these Lessons, considerable use has been made of the excellent exercises, used in most of the German gymnasiums, prepared by Dr. Wasener to accompany the Greek Grammar of Professor Curtius. [Ready in June.

RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

Latin.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF ROMAN LITERATURE, FOR SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES. Translated and edited, from the German edition of Bender, by Professors E. P. CROWELL and H. B. RICHARDSON of Amherst College.

This work was received with great favor in Germany, and was widely adopted by the secondary schools.

The present translation adapts it to the use of schools and colleges in America, not only by retaining all that is valuable in the German work, but by adding copious references to the best general and special English works on Roman Literature.

The table of contents has been greatly enlarged, so as to constitute a complete analysis of the whole, and the chart at the end has been put into better form; in short, the aim has been to make it a serviceable handbook for students and teachers.

The chief excellence of the work consists in its terse, suggestive, and admirable characterizations of the Roman writers and of their times. It contains just what the student ought to know, and suggests much for the teacher to enlarge upon. [Mailing Price, $1.05.

REMNANTS OF EARLY LATIN.

Selected and explained, for the use of students, by FREDERICK D. ALLEN, Professor in Yale College.

The object is to bring together, in small compass and convenient shape for reading, the most remarkable monuments of archaic Latin, with enough explanation to make them generally intelligible. This material has been hitherto accessible only in large and expensive books, ill suited, for the most part, to the learner's wants. Part First contains the text of about 150 inscriptions, beginning with the oldest coins and coming down to about Sulla's time. There is no intention of teaching palæography; the inscriptions are printed in small letters, without any attempt at reproducing the appearance of the originals. A single lithographed fac-simile is given as a sample. In Part Second, specimens of the oldest prayers, formulæ, and laws — material which has come down to us from a high antiquity through literary channels — are collected. The remains of the Twelve Tables are included here. No literary matter has been admitted. All the selections are illustrated by a succinct commentary, and in a short introduction the leading peculiarities of the early language are enumerated. The book is meant primarily for students, but it is hoped that others may find it useful as a convenient handbook. An index has been added. [Mailing Price, 85 cts.

GOODWIN'S NEW GREEK GRAMMAR.

Enlarged from 262 to 425 pages, and adapted to college use.

In this edition the following portions are entirely new : —

1. All that relates to the Inflection of the Verb, which is increased from 50 to 100 pages. 2. Part III., on the Formation of Words. 3. Part V., on Versification. 4. Greek and English Indexes, filling 30 pages.

The Catalogue of Verbs is nearly double in size, but is still confined, for the most part, to strictly classic forms. The remainder of the work has been carefully revised, and numerous changes and additions have been made.

The London Athenæum of October 4, 1879, says of the English Edition of the Grammar : —

"Messrs. MACMILLAN have published a new and revised edition of the ELEMENTARY GREEK GRAMMAR of that distinguished scholar, Professor GOODWIN of Harvard. It is the best Greek Grammar of its size in the English language, and ought to meet with a wide circulation on this side of the Atlantic."

ALLEN & GREENOUGH'S LATIN GRAMMAR.

The first edition was published in 1872, and was widely adopted, reaching a sale of over 30,000 copies. In 1877, the editors completed a revision, which has made it virtually a new work while retaining all the important features of the old. Attention is invited to the following merits of the book:

1. The Supplementary and Marginal Notes on Etymology, Comparative Philology, and the meaning of forms. In this department it is believed to be more full and complete than any other school text-book, and to embody the most advanced views of comparative philologists.

2. Numerous Introductory Notes in the Syntax, giving a brief view of the theory of constructions. These Notes are original contributions to the discusslon of the topics of which they treat; they illustrate and greatly simplify syntactical construction, and are not based upon abstract theory, or "metaphysics of the subjunctive," but upon linguistic science, or upon the actual historical development of language from its simplest forms.

3. Treatment of Special Topics of Syntax. On these points we invite comparison with other school grammars on the score of simplicity and clearness.

4. The extended, and often complete, lists of forms and constructions.

5. Tabulated examples of peculiar or idiomatic use.

6. The full and clear treatment of Rhythm and Versification, corresponding with the latest and best authorities on the subject.

7. The unusual brevity attained without sacrifice of completeness or clearness.

This Grammar expresses the results of independent study of the best original sources. It has been strictly subordinated to the uses of the class-room through the advice and aid of several of our most experienced teachers. The rapid adoption of this Grammar in over three-fourths of the leading colleges and preparatory schools of the country is believed to be a full guaranty for its adaptation to the purposes of instruction.

GREEK TEXT-BOOKS.

Goodwin's Greek Grammar. Revised and Enlarged Edition for 1879.

It states general principles clearly and distinctly, with special regard to those who are preparing for college.

It excludes all detail which belongs to a book of reference, and admits whatever will aid a pupil in mastering the great principles of Greek Grammar.

The sections on the Syntax of the Verb are generally condensed from the author's larger work on the Greek Moods and Tenses. (See below.)

It contains a brief statement of the author's new classification of conditional sentences, with its application to relative and temporal sentences, which appears now for the first time in an elementary form.

It contains a catalogue of irregular verbs, constructed entirely with reference to the wants of beginners.

All forms are excluded (with a few exceptions) which are not found in the strictly classic Greek before Aristotle.

White's First Lessons in Greek. Prepared to accompany Goodwin's Greek Grammar.

A series of Greek-English and English-Greek Exercises, taken mainly from the first four books of Xenophon's Anabasis, with Additional Exercises on Forms, and complete Vocabularies. The Lessons are carefully graded, and do not follow the order of arrangement of the Grammar, but begin the study of the verb with the second Lesson, and then pursue it alternately with that of the remaining parts of speech. It contains enough Greek Prose Composition for entrance into any college.

Leighton's Greek Lessons. Prepared to accompany Goodwin's Greek Grammar.

A progressive series of exercises (both Greek and English), mainly selected from the first book of Xenophon's Anabasis. The exercises on the Moods are sufficient, it is believed, to develop the general principles as stated in the Grammar.

Goodwin & White's First Four Books of the Anabasis.

Goodwin's Greek Reader contains the first and second books of the Anabasis. Also, selections from Plato, Herodotus, and Thucydides; being the full amount of Greek Prose required for admission at Harvard University.

Goodwin's Selections from Xenophon and Herodotus contains the first four books of the Anabasis, the greater part of the second book of the Hellenica of Xenophon, and extracts from the sixth, seventh, and eighth books of Herodotus.

Anderson's First Three Books of Homer's Iliad.

Goodwin's Greek Moods and Tenses. Gives a plain statement of the principles which govern the construction of the Greek Moods and Tenses,—the most important and the most difficult part of Greek Syntax.
